Testimony Reveals 200 Americans Died

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is reported escalating the clandestine war in Laos while attempting to scale down the conflict in Vietnam, Senate testimony has revealed.

About 200 Americans were killed in the Laotian conflict from 1962-69, the testimony disclosed, and approximately 200 more Americans are listed as missing or prisoners of war.

The figures compare with recent White House announcements that less than 50 Americans died in Laos in ground combat operations and less than 300 had been killed in air operations over the nation.

The extent of the U. S. involvement in the Southeast Asian nation came to light Sunday when Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., released the heavily censored transcript of Senate foreign relations subcommittee hearings into American involvement in Laos. The hearings were conducted last October.

As for the White House figure that less than 50 Americans died in Laos, Symington said, "In this case the White House did not have the best information."

Air Strikes Increase

Col. Robert L. F. Tyrell, chief U.S. air attaché in Laos, testified the U.S. air strikes in Laos were increased "roughly 100 percent" as a result of a request for a heavy stepup in air support from Laotian forces headed by Gen. Vang Pao.

Symington said the "figures which Col. Tyrell shows emphasize there has been a heavy escalation of our military effort in Laos."

Escalation of the Laotian war came after the U.S. halted the bombing of North Vietnam in the fall of 1968, the testimony says.

Based In Thailand

About 150 of the approximately 200 Americans killed in Laos were airmen based in Thailand or aboard U.S. Navy carriers, testimony revealed. The remainder were described as U.S. civilians and servicemen based in Laos.

No clear estimate was made of the cost of the U.S. involvement in Laos. But the Defense Department did submit the following statement:

"The total cost of all U.S. activities in Laos including air operations against the Ho Chi Minh trail is about (deleted) billion a year. Of this approximately (deleted) billion is related directly to our efforts in South Vietnam."

De-Escalation Noted

Saying the Nixon administration has emphasized the de-escalation of the Vietnam conflict at the same time it has heavily escalated U.S. military effort in Laos, Symington said: "It is not a question of whether it is right or wrong. The point we are trying to bring out is not only that the American people have no knowledge at all that

President Sets Update Report Speech Tonight

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon will outline his approach to further U.S. troop withdrawals from South Vietnam in a television-radio address tonight—and perhaps unveil a surprise or two.

Nixon will speak at 9 p.m. EST.

Sources at the Western White House cautioned today against advance speculation that Nixon would announce a successor to Henry Cabot Lodge as chief American peace negotiator in Paris. Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler indicated earlier in the month that such an announcement might be imminent.

At the same time, these sources did not rule out the apparent likelihood that Nixon, in what is billed as a 10- to 15-minute "update report" to the nation, would go beyond mere discussion of troop levels and break new ground in presidential discussion of the Southeast Asian situation.

Since Nixon last took to the airwaves to discuss the Vietnam war, last Dec. 15, the conflict has broadened, particularly in Cambodia which seeks U.S. arms following a coup that overthrew the neutralist government of Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

Through Ziegler, the United States has deplored reported Cambodian massacres of Vietnamese living in that tiny country. And the State Department has said the arms request is under study.

Trucking Strike Talks Continue; Layoffs Likely

By The Associated Press
Efforts by federal mediators to end a dispute between trucking unions and the industry were set back Sunday when industry representatives in Chicago announced they may boycott a meeting scheduled for today.

The nation continued to feel the effects of the dispute as goods piled up at production centers over the weekend and many firms made plans to pay off more workers.

Chicago, the center of the dispute, appeared to be the hardest hit with one industry official estimating that 350,000 persons would be laid off if the strike continued until Tuesday.

Trucking industry negotiators in Chicago said management would not attend the meeting, called for 2 p.m. unless union negotiators drop their demands for $1.65 a week package increase.

Louis F. Peick, head of Local 705 of the Teamsters Union, said the truck drivers have instructed union negotiators "not to get off our present position." Peick said negotiators would attend the meeting however.

Federal mediator Edward M. Weiss said the meeting was still on, and he was "hopeful that we will have the opportunity to meet with the trucking associations and the Teamster officials."

Hero's Welcome Given Spacemen

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — James Lovell stepped briskly from the White House jet, paused briefly to smile hello and headed straight for a station wagon out of sight of the welcoming crowd.

Inside was a frail lady, beaming. Lovell opened the door and brushed his lips against her cheek.

"Hello, Mom," he said. "It's good to see you."

Only then was there time for the 5,000 who had come to cheer Lovell, Fred Haise and Jack Swigert home.

Home Again. Back to the home they thought they might never see again.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 13's astronauts today begin telling specialists about what happened on the near-tragic space journey.

What they report may help pinpoint the cause of the oxygen tank explosion that aborted man's third moon-landing attempt.

James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr. and John L. Swigert Jr. plan to discuss the accident with Space Center officials before meeting with the head of the Apollo 13 review board Tuesday.

Six Explosions Rock Coastal City

SEATTLE (AP) — Police confirmed at least six explosions in the predominantly black central area here Sunday evening, including the home of Washington State Rep. David Sprague.

There were no reports of injuries. Police said the blasts occurred within minutes of one another.

Two explosions in a real estate office and drive-in restaurant in the same block knocked out glass in many businesses in the area. Another blast was reported at a Japanese Presbyterian church.

In February, another explosion damaged the home of State Sen. Fred Dore in the same area. Dore's wife and four of their children were in the home at the time, but escaped injury. Seattle has had some 60 bombings in recent months.

A team of experts here examined radio data and photographs in an effort to learn the cause of the tank rupture.

Lovell, Haise and Swigert returned to their homes near the Space Center Sunday night after a flight from Honolulu. They were greeted by more than 5,000 persons who gathered at nearby Ellington Air Force Base.

Lovell told the crowd:

"Needless to say, Jack and Fred and I are very proud and glad to be back here in Texas tonight because there were many times when we really didn't think we'd make it back here."

"And I can say with all sincerity," the Apollo commander added, "we would not be here if it was not for the people on the ground, in Mission Control Center, helping us all the way."

Swigert, a last-minute replacement for measles-exposed

Thomas K. Mattingly II, echoed Lovell's words. "Of all the welcomes home we've had, this one means the most, because it was these people out here who made it possible for us to be here."

Haise said, "We had the prayers and good wishes from people all over the world and we appreciated that very much."

Mattingly, without measles, was in the welcoming group.

It was the fourth tumultuous welcome since the spacemen returned safely to earth Friday with a bull's-eye splashdown in the Pacific.

The others were aboard the recovery carrier Iwo Jima, on their first landfall in Samoa, and in Honolulu where President Nixon Saturday gave them the nation's highest civilian award, the Medal of Freedom.

The President praised their poise and skill in bringing their spaceship in after it was damaged last Monday night 202,000 miles from home.

Nixon took the wives of Lovell and Haise and the parents of bachelor Swigert to Honolulu to greet the astronauts.

Churches around the world Sunday offered prayers of thanksgiving for the safe return of the spacemen.

Another Gladstone Youth Dies In War

GLADSTONE — The parents of Sgt. William Richard Alfredson, 21, have been notified by military authorities that their son was killed when a mine detonated near Cu Chi, Vietnam, on April 15. He was the son of Agner Alfredson of Lena, Wis., and Mrs. Kenneth Evans of 1524 Minneapolis Ave.

The death marked the second Vietnam casualty from Gladstone in less than a week.

Sgt. Alfredson entered the United States Army on Dec. 4, 1968 and completed his basic training at Fort Campbell, Ky., and advanced individual training at Fort Polk, La. He received the Army Commendation Medal while serving with Co. C of the 198th Infantry Division.

William Richard Alfredson was born on March 23, 1949, and attended schools in New Jersey and Menominee before entering the service, graduated from Menominee High School in 1968.

He is survived by his parents; one brother, Stephen Alfredson of Fenton; and two sisters, Kristine, and Lori Evans, both at home.

Ousting VC Aim Of Cambodians

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Four Cambodian battalions moved up today to the edge of the riverside town of Saang, 18 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, and began making preparations to try to dislodge a Viet Cong force that occupied the town Sunday.

It is the closest the Viet Cong have moved to Cambodia's capital.

The Cambodian command post was about 400 yards from where the lieutenant colonel in charge believed the Viet Cong had set up their positions. A spotter plane circled overhead, hunting for guerrillas along the banks of the Bassac River.

The Viet Cong moved into Saang Sunday afternoon after government troops abandoned the town without a fight. The commander of the local garrison estimated the size of the Viet Cong force at about 100 men, but the commander sent in today increased this to two battalions.

One patrol suffered light casualties when it ran into a Viet Cong ambush. And a Viet Cong round landed near the Cambodian command post.

Cuba Invaded; 6 Persons Die

MIAMI (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro says an invasion force from the United States has landed in Cuba and that six persons have been killed in fighting.

Castro said in a communique broadcast Sunday by Havana Radio the armed men landed on Cuba's east coast Friday—the ninth anniversary of the abortive, U.S.-supported Bay of Pigs invasion.

A "group of mercenaries coming from the United States, equipped with modern automatic arms of the Yankee Army, landed near the Yumuri River 14 miles east of the city of Baracoa Friday, April 17, at dawn," he said.

Baracoa is in Oriente Province, near the eastern tip of Cuba.

Castro said his troops and border patrol captured two prisoners soon after the landing, "seizing two automatic rifles, 2,000 bullets and numerous packages of plastic explosives."

A second battle occurred Saturday, Castro said, and "four courageous combatants of the revolution lost their lives and two were gravely wounded."

2 Invaders Slain

"During the action, two mercenaries were killed and a third one was taken prisoner," he said.

"A hunt for the mercenaries continues."

Militant exile groups in Miami remained quiet after Castro's speech, but one such organization—Alpha 66—said "an expedition like this was on our program."

"We can neither affirm nor deny at this time that it was our force that was involved in the battle. We are waiting for news," said Andre Nazario Sargen, secretary-general of Alpha 66.

Mendez Out Of City

The organization's military commander, Vicente Mendez, was reported by associates to be out of the city.

His wife, Dulce Maria, was at the Alpha 66 headquarters late Sunday, crying softly as she awaited the news from Cuba.

Impeachment Action Stuns GOP Liberals

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald Ford's decision to head a move to impeach Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas has touched off doubt and dismay among many of his GOP colleagues.

Although the move is a popular one among conservative Republicans, a sampling of liberal and moderate GOP sentiment discloses serious reservations about it.

"I think it is fair to say there is a good deal of anguish among the members," says an influential Republican moderate.

One complaint against Ford is that he failed to discuss his intention to spearhead the anti-Douglas drive with his fellow leaders, so other opinions might first have been heard.

The party's national chairman, Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton, R-Md., expressed misgivings about the timing of the move at a GOP leadership conference Friday.

Coming on the heels of Senate rejection of two of President Nixon's Supreme Court nominees, he said, the attack on Douglas might be construed as an attempt at retaliation.

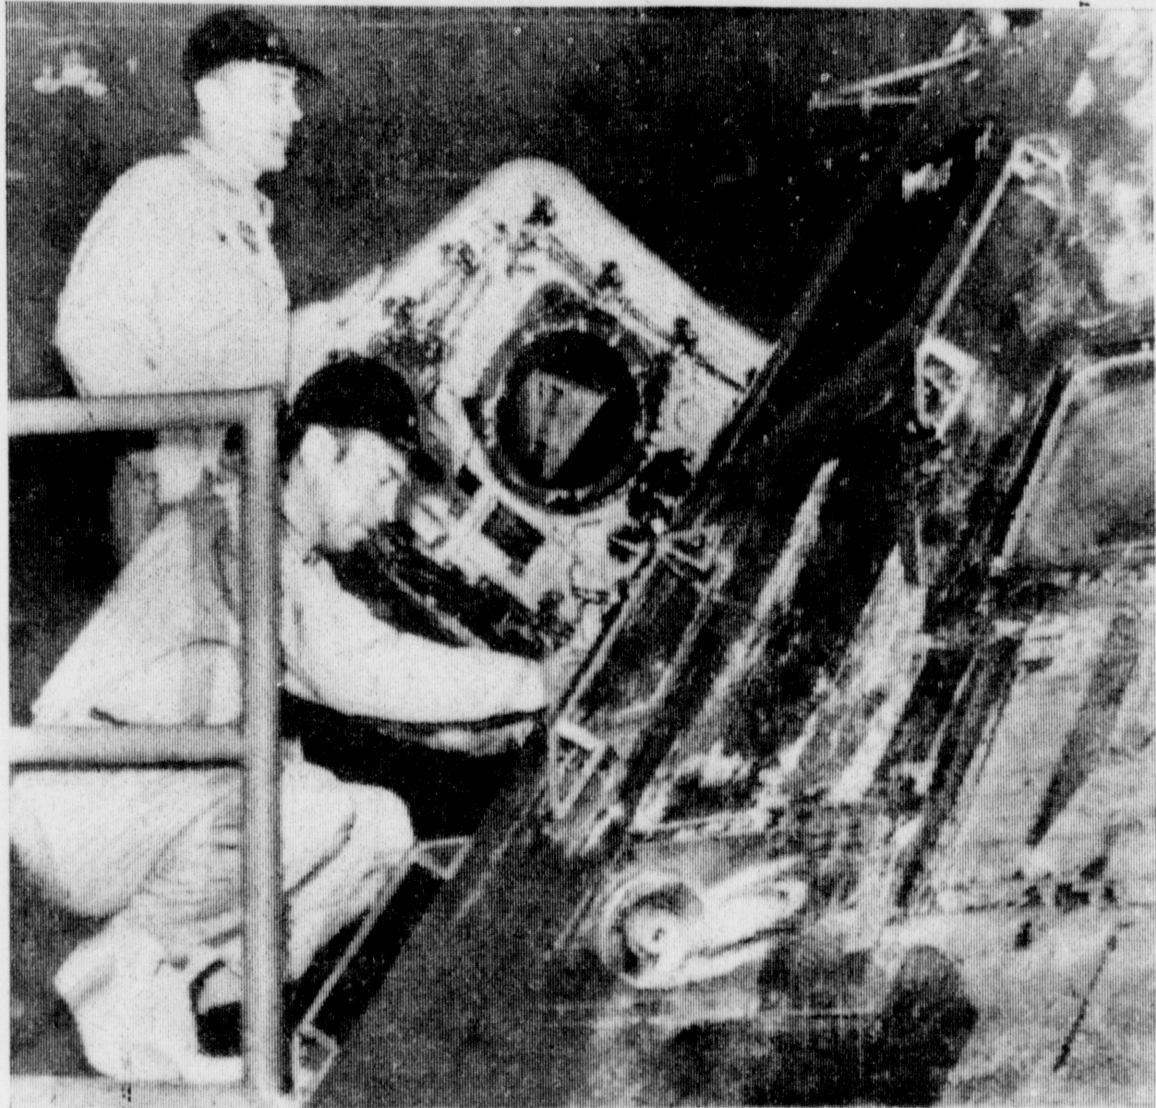

He also expressed concern that it could become a political issue in this year's congressional elections. "If I had my druthers," he said, "the timing would be different."

Although Ford did not formally sign the resolution of impeachment introduced last week by 104 Democrats and Republicans, he launched the drive with an hour-long speech to the House Wednesday that laid down the charges on which the resolution is based.

High Winds Sever Power, Telephones

High winds and rain along the Upper Peninsula shoreline of Lake Michigan and in the central part of the Upper Peninsula which began Sunday night left some areas of the Upper Peninsula without power and telephone service today.

West of Iron River, residents were shoveling heavy, wet snow in depths of two to four inches.

The Manistique, Gulliver and Garden areas had long-distance telephone communications severed about midnight when the winds blew trees across open wires near Cooks. Service was expected to be restored early this afternoon.

School Closed

Power was interrupted to the Rock area, forcing the Rock school to close for the day, as winds blew down Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. transmission lines serving the Alger-Delta Electric Cooperative.

Roy Hawkinson of Alger-Delta said the company also had problems in the Nahma junction area and service was out from Nahma Junction north along Federal Highway 13 to the Steuben area in Schoolcraft County.

He said repair crews were out early this morning working on the problems.

An Upper Peninsula Power Co. spokesman said U.P. Power experienced scattered outages from Indian Point near Nahma to Ford River south of Escanaba.

Neither Escanaba or Gladstone, however, had any severe problems.

Trees Down

State Police reported trees down, broken utility poles and bent television antennas in the Manistique area, but there were no reports of injuries. The U.S. Coast Guard station south of Gulliver asked State Police at Manistique to radio U.P. Power Co. that its electric service had been out since Sunday afternoon.

Death Claims Dennis Quinn

Dennis M. Quinn, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Quinn, 421 Michigan Ave., Gladstone died at his home Sunday afternoon. He was born Feb. 26, 1941.

He is survived by his parents; five sisters, Mrs. Bernard (Alice) Wiltzius of Gladstone, Mrs. Ralph (Mary Mae) Kasten of Marquette, Mrs. Marvin (Theresa) Pouliot, Rte. 1, Gladstone, Mrs. Thomas (Frances) Cowell of Iron Mountain and Mrs. Robert (Ann Rose) Daly of Birmingham, Mich.; four brothers, F. Patrick, James, John and Thomas, all of Gladstone.

Friends may call at the Skradski Funeral Home after 4 p.m. Tuesday and parish prayers will be recited at 8 p.m. Tuesday. Funeral services will be conducted at 9 a.m. Wednesday at All Saints Church with Msgr. Matt LaViolette officiating. Burial will be Fernwood Cemetery.

Robert Karas of the Delta County Road Commission said a few trees were blown down in the county and that there were a few washouts on rural roads, but otherwise no major problems.

North Central Airlines reported service as usual, although the morning DC-9 jet flight south was delayed about an hour because of weather in Marquette.

Rain Falling

Winds gusting up to 37 knots (about 40 miles per hour) were logged at the Escanaba airport Sunday night out of the east.

Rain continued to fall in the Escanaba area this morning. Total rainfall for the 24 hour period ending at 6 a.m. today was .74 inch, the Weather Bureau reported. Wind had diminished to about 12 miles per hour.

The forecast, however, predicted gusty north to northwest winds 25 to 35 miles per hour today, diminishing slowly tonight. Precipitation probabilities were listed as 100 per cent for today, 70 per cent tonight and 40 per cent Tuesday.

A chance of snow was indicated for both today and Tuesday.

High Winds Sever Power, Telephones

High winds and rain along the Upper Peninsula shoreline of Lake Michigan and in the central part of the Upper Peninsula which began Sunday left some areas of the Upper Peninsula without power and telephone service today.

West of Iron River, residents were shoveling heavy, wet snow in depths of two to four inches.

The Manistique, Gulliver and Garden areas had long-distance telephone communications severed about midnight when the winds blew trees across open wires near Cooks. Service was expected to be restored early this afternoon.

School Closed

Power was interrupted to the Rock area, forcing the Rock school to close for the day, as winds blew down Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co. transmission lines serving the Alger-Delta Electric Cooperative.

Roy Hawkinson of Alger-Delta said the company also had problems in the Nahma junction area and service was out from Nahma Junction north along Federal Forest Highway 13 to the Steuben area in Schoolcraft County.

He said repair crews were out early this morning working on the problems.

An Upper Peninsula Power Co. spokesman said U.P. Power experienced scattered outages from Indian Point near Nahma to Ford River south of Escanaba.

Neither Escanaba or Gladstone, however, had any severe problems.

Trees Down

State Police reported trees down, broken utility poles and bent television antennas in the Manistique area, but there were no reports of injuries. The U.S. Coast Guard station south of Gulliver asked State Police at Manistique to radio U.P. Power Co. that its electric service had been out since Sunday afternoon.

Robert Karas of the Delta County Road Commission said a few trees were blown down in the county and that there were a few washouts on rural roads, but otherwise no major problems.

North Central Airlines reported service as usual, although the morning DC-9 jet flight south was delayed about an hour because of weather in Marquette.

Rain Falling

Winds gusting up to 37 knots (about 40 miles per hour) were logged at the Escanaba airport Sunday night out of the east.

Rain continued to fall in the Escanaba area this morning.

Total rainfall for the 24 hour period ending at 6 a.m. today was .74 inch, the Weather Bureau reported. Wind had diminished to about 12 miles per hour.

The forecast, however, predicted gusty north to northwest winds 25 to 35 miles per hour today, diminishing slowly tonight. Precipitation probabilities were listed as 100 per cent for today, 70 per cent tonight and 40 per cent Tuesday.

A chance of snow was indicated for both today and Tuesday.

War Continues

The death last week of another young soldier from Delta County is a grim reminder that the war in Vietnam is no where near over.

James John Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Cook, 525 Dakota Ave., died in Vietnam when a mine exploded. He was only 20 years old and recently had been presented two medals by the Army. He had everything in the world to live for.

Many young men have died in Vietnam including others from Delta County. But the death of Spec 4 James J. Cook should carry an additional meaning to the residents of the area as he is the first young man from the county to die since President Nixon's plan to "Vietnamize" the war was launched.

Of late, Vietnam has taken a back seat to other events in the United States. The headlines have gone to the Apollo 13 moon mission, to the Senate debates on the Supreme Court, to errant Tiger pitcher Denny McLain as President Nixon's plan of "Vietnamization" and gradual withdrawal of troops has quieted the demonstrators.

But if the public outcries have subsided and the number of United States combat deaths have been reduced, those facts are a little consolation for parents like Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook. For them, the president's "Vietnamization" program didn't work fast enough.

Mr. Nixon will make the fourth major statement on Vietnam in a nationwide television address tonight, a talk which had been scheduled last week but postponed because of the Apollo 13 crisis. He may announce another withdrawal of American troops.

Hopefully, the president's report on the war will be optimistic, that more troops will be on their way home soon and that the rest will follow in the not too distant future. For only when they're all home safely can the nation breathe evenly again.

The Real Cause?

Justice Department official Kevin Phillips spoke wisely when he told a conference of young Republicans in Washington that unless this society produces progress for people who labor for $5,000 and $6,000 a year it will not produce what "we want" either.

His observation underscores the interdependence of all groups in American society. No working segment of society can truly advance unless all of its working segments advance together.

The postal crisis emphasizes this interdependence, and it also reveals that many people who labor long and hard in the routine jobs that keep this country functioning are beginning to despair.

The walkouts that have occurred in several major cities clearly violate federal law, and participants obviously risk loss of pay and possibly other punishment. It is an indication of their dire situation that many of them do not seem to care.

As one postal worker in New York City put it: If postal conditions don't improve, "there's no sense in going to work ever."

The postal strike will result in pay raises being promised or granted, giving workers temporary relief. But the underlying crisis will not be solved in this manner. The real source of the cost-of-living problem not only of postal workers but of Americans in other walks of life is not inadequate pay but inflation.

A few years ago, an income of $6,000 a year would have been considered more than ample, but because of the ravages of inflation brought on by runaway federal spending and years of deficit finance, such an income level today provides a meager existence, indeed. Many New York City mailmen reportedly resort to public welfare to make ends meet.

Curious Step

President Nixon's closing of the U. S. Consulate in newly independent Rhodesia because of that country's internal policies sets an unusual precedent.

Normally, on the question of diplomatic recognition or lower-level contact, a nation is judged by its international behavior and intentions, not its internal order.

Thus, for example, the United States has denied diplomatic recognition to Red China and blocked entry into the United Nations not because of offensive internal policies but because of China's unwillingness to behave internationally in a civilized manner and to abide by the principles of the U. N. Charter.

America's treatment of Rhodesia is a curious departure from normal practice because diplomats have been withdrawn in response to Salisbury's internal policies. Rhodesia's behavior toward neighbor nations has been — and is — above criticism.

It is obvious that Rhodesia, a predominantly black nation ruled by a white minority government, is not a model of equality and justice, and these concepts are understood in the U. S. and Great Britain.

But it is also obvious that few nations in the world are. If every country were to be judged on the basis of how closely its internal order resembles our own, few nations would qualify.

Following such criteria, it would be necessary to sever ties with all Communist countries. It would be necessary to cut ties with those many countries of Africa, Latin America and Asia that are ruled by military dictatorship.

It would be necessary to call home diplomats from those Asiatic countries where caste systems still flourish.

It would be necessary, in short, to sever relations with authoritarian regimes everywhere, and that accounts for most of the world.

This is the direction in which President Nixon's action on Rhodesia points the U. S. It should be reversed.

Lenin Started Trend To Mental Pollution

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

"Earth Day"—April 22—is almost here. The students on a thousand campuses will be thundering against physical pollution of the environment.

One would hope, too, that they might have a word or two to spare for mental pollution, the sort of thing that has led to the widespread craze for copping out on drugs, the flouting of moral standards, the obsession with obscenity, and the rage against the use of peaceful political compromise in settling our differences both on and off the campuses.

Further, one would hope that some brave student would pay a little critical attention to the fact that April 22 is, by coincidence, the 100th anniversary of the birth of Nicolai Lenin, the founder of the Soviet Communist regime in Russia. Half the world will be going gaga on the 22nd paying tribute to Lenin as a virtual demi-god.

Admittedly he was a great revolutionary strategist. But the sort of thing being said about Lenin as a "humanist" is the sheerest bilge, a prime example of the mental pollution that has done our world even more harm than DDT, sulfur dioxide and all the carbon monoxide from all the exhausts of all the cars on all the roads of all the nations of the globe.

It has remained for U Thant, the Secretary of the United Nations, to come out with the most inane praise for the founder of Soviet Communism. In a statement read at the opening of the UN's Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization's symposium at Tampere in Finland, held to celebrate the anniversary of Lenin's birth, U Thant spoke of the creator of the savage Russian dictatorship as an "outstanding scholar and prominent humanist" who helped advance "human rights and fundamental freedoms."

Why Unesco should feel called upon to celebrate the birthday of a man who regarded "human rights" as a fiction, and "freedom" as an illusion, can only be explained by the cynical policies of a UN that is dominated by a socialist bloc that hates the West, where the idea of "inalienable" and "immemorial" rights originated.

There isn't a smidgen of evidence that Lenin cared anything for human rights and fundamental freedoms as something that transcended class lines. He didn't even think that members of other parties in the socialist movement—the Social Revolutionaries, the Mensheviks, the Social Democrats—had rights that must be respected. As he said to Vera Zasulich, a contemporary of Karl Marx and one of Lenin's early teachers, "There are no morals in politics; there is only expediency."

We have been troubled by the obstreperous anti-democracy of the more extreme factions in the Students for a Democratic Society. They disdain intellectual argument and make it a practice of shouting down opponents and disrupting meetings.

first Weatherman. We forget that Russia had already had a democratic revolution before the Bolshevik seizure of power.

In January, 1918, Russia was governed by a constituent assembly that was the choice of the people. The Bolshevik party had received only 24 per cent of the votes cast in the election; the Social Revolutionaries, with 54 per cent, had an absolute majority.

Instead of accepting the will of the electorate, Lenin decided to treat the constituent assembly as Jerry Rubin, Abbie Hoffman, and the other Yippies treated Judge Hoffman's Chicago court. When they couldn't win an argument or a vote, the Bolsheviks disrupted things by staging the Internationale. Lenin himself would lie down on the steps to the podium and pretend to be asleep when an opponent was speaking.

There were demonstrations by Bolsheviks and anarchists both inside the parliament and outside, and some anti-Bolshevik deputies were murdered by Lenin's agents among the sailors. Finally, the sailors moved into the assembly, turned off the lights, and the Russian experiment in democracy was over.

Let's say your partner bids four notrump (Blackwood) and your opponent intervenes with five of a suit. How do you tell your partner how many aces you have?

There are many methods which can be used to identify the number of aces you have after an intervention. Most of them fill the bill under most conditions, but some of them prove to be less than satisfactory — depending on which trump suit you have in mind and which suit your opponent has bid.

One method currently in use is called DOPI. If you double the interference bid, it means you have either no aces or two aces. If you pass (or bid), you have either one ace or three aces.

The D stands for double and the O for none; the P stands for pass and the I for one. It is easy to remember which is which, through mnemonics, because your natural tendency would be to double if you had no aces in order to stop partner from going on.

Today's hand occurred in the 1962 world championship match between Great Britain and the United States. The British North-South pair apparently had no pre-arranged understanding on how to cope with West's surprising five spade bid. As a result they undertook a grand slam, missing the ace of diamonds.

South's five notrump bid was intended as the grand slam force, asking North about his trump holding. North responded six diamonds, showing the king or ace of hearts, but South then took a blind stab at seven hearts and went down one.

Bride Gets Belted With Wedding Cake

Dear Ann Landers: We just returned from a wedding which has left us shattered. If we had not seen it with our own eyes we would not have believed it. The bride, a charming young woman, looked heavenly in her satin gown and ivory lace veil. The ceremony and reception was the most elegant this town has seen in years.

At cake-cutting time the guests gathered around the beaming couple. A photographer was on hand to capture the beautiful moment. To the astonishment of everyone in the place, the groom took the first piece of cake and, instead of sharing it with his beloved, he plastered it against her face — completely covering her hair, eyes and nose with white, sticky frosting.

The groom then announced, "That's for good luck — a tradition where I come from." The bride fled from the room half laughing, half crying. Her mother ran after her. In a few moments they both returned. Nothing was said. This certainly spoiled the wedding for me and for everyone else. I have never heard of the "custom" before. Have you? — Shocked

Dear Shocked: The groom said it was a good luck tradition where he came from? A Mack Sennet Comedy? I've never heard of plastering the bride's face with wedding cake. The bride is going to need all the good luck she can get. I think she married a nut.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell the 16-year-old who wanted to be treated like a lady not to be so hard on the boys. It's hard to tell these days what females want.

Most of them are clamoring for equal pay and equal opportunity. They demand a place in men's military academies, colleges, dorms, locker rooms, sports, business and industry. They dress like men, talk like men, drink like men and light up cigars in public dining rooms.

I had to laugh when the girl described how the boy pushed her out of his way at the bus stop and got on first. He probably learned that shoving technique from watching his mother at a sale counter in a department store. Women can be ever so much cruder than men and somehow it looks twice as bad because they are women. — An Observer

Dear Ob: Manners know no gender. There's no excuse for shoving people around, male or female. But here's one thing you can count on in this ever-changing world; the battle between the sexes will never be won because there's too much fraternization with the "enemy."

Confidential to A True-Blue Friend: Stop being so "friendly" or you'll wind up paying her bills again, Dummy.

Confidential to Those Who Talk Jewish: I don't know anyone who "talks Jewish." There is no such language. Do you mean

Yiddish or Hebrew? These are two separate and distinct languages. Some Jews can speak both. Some speak neither.

War Continues

The death last week of another young soldier from Delta County is a grim reminder that the war in Vietnam is no where near over.

James John Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Cook, 525 Dakota Ave., died in Vietnam when a mine exploded. He was only 20 years old and recently had been presented two medals by the Army. He had everything in the world to live for.

Many young men have died in Vietnam including others from Delta County. But the death of Spec 4 James J. Cook should carry an additional meaning to the residents of the area as he is the first young man from the county to die since President Nixon's plan to "Vietnamize" the war was launched.

Of late, Vietnam has taken a back seat to other events in the United States. The headlines have gone to the Apollo 13 moon mission, to the Senate debates on the Supreme Court, to errant Tiger pitcher Denny McLain as President Nixon's plan of "Vietnamization" and gradual withdrawal of troops has quieted the demonstrators.

But if the public outcries have subsided and the number of United States combat deaths have been reduced, those facts are little consolation for parents like Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cook. For them, the president's "Vietnamization" program didn't work fast enough.

Mr. Nixon will make the fourth major statement on Vietnam in a nationwide television address tonight, a talk which had been scheduled last week but postponed because of the Apollo 13 crisis. He may announce another withdrawal of American troops.

Hopefully, the president's report on the war will be optimistic, that more troops will be on their way home soon and that the rest will follow in the not too distant future. For only when they're all home safely can the nation breathe evenly again.

The Real Cause?

Justice Department official Kevin Phillips spoke wisely when he told a conference of young Republicans in Washington that unless this society produces progress for people who labor for $5,000 and $6,000 a year it will not produce what "we want" either.

His observation underscores the interdependence of all groups in American society. No working segment of society can truly advance unless all of its working segments advance together.

The postal crisis emphasizes this interdependence, and it also reveals that many people who labor long and hard in the routine jobs that keep this country functioning are beginning to despair.

The walkouts that have occurred in several major cities clearly violate federal law, and participants obviously risk loss of pay and possibly other punishment. It is an indication of their dire situation that many of them do not seem to care.

As one postal worker in New York City put it: If postal conditions don't improve, "there's no sense in going to work ever."

The postal strike will result in pay raises being promised or granted, giving workers temporary relief. But the underlying crisis will not be solved in this manner. The real source of the cost-of-living problem not only of postal workers but of Americans in other walks of life is not inadequate pay but inflation.

A few years ago, an income of $6,000 a year would have been considered more than ample, but because of the ravages of inflation brought on by runaway federal spending and years of deficit finance, such an income level today provides a meager existence, indeed. Many New York City mailmen reportedly resort to public welfare to make ends meet.

Curious Step

President Nixon's closing of the U. S. Consulate in newly independent Rhodesia because of that country's internal policies sets an unusual precedent.

Normally, on the question of diplomatic recognition or lower-level contact, a nation is judged by its international behavior and intentions, not its internal order.

Thus, for example, the United States has denied diplomatic recognition to Red China and blocked entry into the United Nations not because of offensive internal policies but because of China's unwillingness to behave internationally in a civilized manner and to abide by the principles of the U. N. Charter.

America's treatment of Rhodesia is a curious departure from normal practice because diplomats have been withdrawn in response to Salisbury's internal policies. Rhodesia's behavior toward neighbor nations has been — and is — above criticism.

It is obvious that Rhodesia, a predominately black nation ruled by a white minority government, is not a model of equality and justice, as these concepts are understood in the U. S. and Great Britain.

But it is also obvious that few nations in the world are. If every country were to be judged on the basis of how closely its internal order resembles our own, few nations would qualify.

Following such criteria, it would be necessary to sever ties with all Communist countries. It would be necessary to cut ties with those many countries of Africa, Latin America and Asia that are ruled by military dictatorships.

It would be necessary to call home diplomats from those Asiatic countries where caste systems still flourish.

It would be necessary, in short, to sever relations with authoritarian regimes everywhere, and that accounts for most of the world.

This is the direction in which President Nixon's action on Rhodesia points the U. S. It should be reversed.

REUNION MOVES

NEW YORK (AP)—A 12-member United Presbyterian committee has been named to work with members of the Presbyterian Church U. S. (Southern) toward possible reunion of the nation's two largest Presbyterian bodies, split since the war between the states. The southern-based church previously had named its 12-member negotiating team.

This is the classic Old Left pattern for discrediting democratic methods. The New Left has simply imitated Lenin. So where does U Thant come off in presenting Lenin as "an outstanding scholar" and humanist?

Why do we put up with this sort of intellectual garbage? Won't some student, concerned for the health of the mind as well as of the environment, call U Thant to order on April 22?

The point might be made, too, that physical pollution is reported to be even more rampant in the Soviet industrial areas than in the capitalist world. There are chemical wastes in Lake Baikal in Siberia, oil drainage is ruining land along the lower Volga River, the steel mills of the Ukraine lack anti-pollution filters, and so on.

Communism, with its purges and man-made famines, may be a cure for the population explosion, but do you have to drown a dog to get rid of its fleas?

Students, Faculty Stunned By Rules Set Up At U-M

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Representatives of the University of Michigan student government and faculty expressed displeasure and dismay at the set of temporary student conduct rules adopted by the school's Board of Regents last week.

The rules ban a wide range of disruptive student activity, basically banning violence against persons or property on the campus and interference with the normal functions of the university.

Examiner Picked

The regents' action also established a procedure whereby the cases of students charged with violating the rules would be heard by a nonuniversity hearing examiner to be appointed by the school's president.

Objections to the rules dealt both with the substance of the action and the way in which the rules were enacted.

Since last August, the Regents have had before them a set of controversial revised by-laws covering—among other things—student conduct rules and disciplinary procedures.

The regents have yet to act on the by-laws, which basically require that nonacademic conduct of students would be governed by student-made rules and called for due process in all disciplinary proceedings.

Paper Raps Plan

Martin Hirschman, editor of the student newspaper, the Michigan Daily, said the regent's decision Friday to appoint a commission to study permanent conduct rules "in effect says that the by-laws drafted by students and faculty will not be accepted."

"The action indicated the regents aren't willing to accept them (the by-laws) now," Hirschman said. "A lot of people feel they aren't willing to adopt them ever."

Hirschman said there was also "a lot of concern" whether due process would be observed in the disciplinary procedure set

Opening lead—three of diamonds.

Let's say your partner bids four notrump (Blackwood) and your opponent intervenes with five of a suit. How do you tell your partner how many aces you have?

There are many methods which can be used to identify the number of aces you have after an intervention. Most of them fill the bill under most conditions, but some of them prove to be less than satisfactory—depending on which trump suit you have in mind and which suit your opponent has bid.

One method currently in use is called DOPI. If you double the interference bid, it means you have either no aces or two aces. If you pass (or bid), you have either one ace or three aces.

The D stands for double and the O for none; the P stands for pass and the I for one. It is easy to remember which is which, through mnemonics, because your natural tendency would be to double if you had no aces in order to stop partner from going on.

Today's hand occurred in the 1962 world championship match between Great Britain and the United States. The British North-South pair apparently had no pre-arranged understanding on how to cope with West's surprising five spade bid. As a result they undertook a grand slam, missing the ace of diamonds.

South's five notrump bid was intended as the grand slam force, asking North about his trump holding. North responded six diamonds, showing the king or ace of hearts, but South then took a blind stab at seven hearts and went down one.

Bride Gets Belted With Wedding Cake

Dear Ann Landers: We just returned from a wedding which has left us shattered. If we had not seen it with our own eyes we would not have believed it. The bride, a charming young woman, looked heavenly in her satin gown and ivory lace veil. The ceremony and reception was the most elegant this town has seen in years.

At cake-cutting time the guests gathered around the beaming couple. A photographer was on hand to capture the beautiful moment. To the astonishment of everyone in the place, the groom took the first piece of cake and, instead of sharing it with his beloved, he plastered it against her face — completely covering her hair, eyes and nose with white, sticky frosting.

The groom then announced, "That's for good luck — a tradition where I come from."

The bride fled from the room half laughing, half crying. Her mother ran after her. In a few moments they both returned. Nothing was said. This certainly spoiled the wedding for me and for everyone else. I have never heard of the "custom" before. Have you? — Shocked

Dear Shocked: The groom said it was a good luck tradition where he came from? A Mack Sennet Comedy? I've never heard of plastering the bride's face with wedding cake. The bride is going to need all the good luck she can get. I think she married a nut.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell the 16-year-old who wanted to be treated like a lady not to be so hard on the boys. It's hard to tell these days what females want.

Most of them are clamoring for equal pay and equal opportunity. They demand a place in men's military academies, colleges, dorms, locker rooms, sports, business and industry. They dress like men, talk like men, drink like men and light up cigars in public dining rooms.

I had to laugh when the girl described how the boy pushed her out of his way at the bus stop and got on first. He probably learned that shoving technique from watching his mother at a sale counter in a department store. Women can be ever so much cruder than men and somehow it looks twice as bad because they are women. — An Observer

Dear Ob: Manners know no gender. There's no excuse for shoving people around, male or female. But here's one thing you can count on in this ever-changing world: the battle between the sexes will never be won because there's too much fraternization with the "enemy."

Confidential to A True-Blue Friend: Stop being so "friendly" or you'll wind up paying her bills again, Dummy.

Confidential to Those Who Talk Jewish: I don't know anyone who "talks Jewish." There is no such language. Do you mean

Yiddish or Hebrew? These are two separate and distinct languages. Some Jews can speak both. Some speak neither.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents . . . if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. © Publishers-Hall Syndicate

25 Years Ago

Escanaba residents were forewarned by City Manager A. V. Aronson that the city's new electric siren will sound at 9:45 and 10 p. m., tonight — and that it will not be the signal for V. E. day, but only a curfew warning for children to be off the street.

The value of good brakes and the danger of poor ones on your car was demonstrated at a brake test show staged on Ist Ave. S., under sponsorship of the police and sheriff's department in cooperation with a nation-wide brake-check campaign.

50 Years Ago

Tony Christ of Escanaba has opened a fruit store in Gladstone under the name of the Gladstone Fruit Co. Although he had been in business but a few days, Tony says the new venture promises to be very popular and he looks for a rapidly growing business.

Manager Flath of the Coliseum Roller Rink has completed arrangements with Kenny Mason and School, the acrobatic roller skating trio, to appear at the Coliseum. These men do some remarkable skating and with the space afforded in the big rink, promise some startling feats.

WITH SMOKE POURING from the windows, Escanaba firemen climb a ladder to the roof of Bay de Noc Community College's Science-Technical building Saturday in fighting a fire which apparently started in the chemistry-biology storeroom. Firemen believe the fire started from a faulty heating unit. (Daily Press Photo.)

BARRELS OF CHEMICALS removed from the chemistry and biology laboratories at Bay de Noc Community College were buried at the city's sanitary landfill site, where they will decompose naturally under 15 feet of earth. (Daily Press Photo.)

Classes All In Session, College Plans Cleanup

Classes at Bay de Noc Community College were in session as usual, but that was about all that was normal at the college in the wake of Saturday's fire which caused extensive damage to the college's Science-Technical building.

The fire broke out in the storeroom between the chemistry and biology laboratories in the building and although flames were confined to the storeroom and laboratory area the rest of the building suffered heavy smoke and water damage.

"There is no estimate as yet when the building will be put back into use," said Dr. William Butt, academic dean.

Return To Scene
"Cleanup operations are being planned now, but they have to be done pretty carefully because there is still some danger involved from toxic fumes."

Escanaba firemen, although using self-containing breathing devices, complained of chest pains, headaches and dizziness from inhaling the fumes in fighting the fire.

Firemen responded to the new college campus building shortly before 11 a.m. Saturday, then returned again about 3:10 p.m. when chemicals reignited. The Biological-Environment and Hazard - Force teams from K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base were summoned for decontamination procedures Saturday night and again Sunday.

Dr. Butt, who emphasized that the chemicals were safely stored, said the problems arose with the heat from the fire and water.

"There is probably some danger still existing from noxious gases," Dr. Butt said.

Crew Finishes
Mason Johnson, civil defense

director for Delta County, said the decontamination and chemical disposal effort was directed by George Copher, disaster control representative for K. I. Sawyer.

He said the crews finished work about 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Chemicals removed from the storeroom and the two laboratories of the building were put in drums and transported to Escanaba's sanitary landfill site, where they were buried under 15 feet of earth. Johnson said they will decompose naturally.

Damage Uncertain
There was no immediate estimate of damage from the college. Palmer Derouin, fire chief, said it would exceed $100,000 and unofficial reports circulating said it could as high as $200,000.

Dr. Butt said the building, which had not formally been turned over to the college from

Olsen & Flath, Escanaba contractors, was fully insured. About 200 students were taking courses at the building, which is in its first year of use by the college. All of the classes have been relocated and are in session, some at the college's welding building on 1st Ave. N., and others at the old college building in Escanaba.

Bicycle Safety To Be Stressed

All bicycle riders and especially youngsters are being encouraged to participate in all of the features that accompany the observance of Bicycle Safety Week in Escanaba, April 20-26. Sunday, April 26, has been designated Bicycle Safety Day and parents are expected to urge their bike-riding children to take part in the special events for that day.

The Optimist Club of Escanaba and the Escanaba Area Jaycees are co-sponsors of the events again this year and the week will climax with a Bike Rodeo to be held at the tennis court location at Ludington Park. The program will start at 1 and end at 3:30 p.m.

The Bike Rodeo will consist of registration, a written test of bicycle safety rules, an inspection of bicycles to determine the condition of the bikes, a minor repair area, the applying of reflectorized safety tape — (provided by the local chapter of the VFW) — to the bicycles, a bike rodeo, and will conclude with a drawing for free prizes for boys and girls who register for the event.

Two new bicycles, including one donated by Becks Western Auto Store, will be given as prizes.

The Escanaba Jayettes, and wives of Optimist Club members, will assist in staging the program.

A member of the Escanaba Police Department will be in attendance to sell licenses for the bikes. A license costs 50 cents and is good for the life of the bicycle.

In connection with Safety Week, riders are asked to follow the rules, including: Stop at all stop and go signs; Ride in a straight line; Have white light in front and red light and reflector in back for night riding.

Have proper born or bell on bike; Give right-of-way to all persons walking; Stop and look out for cars at all crossings and cars leaving curb.

Keep your bike in tip-top shape; Report to police immediately if you lose your license or same is stolen.

Traffic Mishaps Injure 4 Persons Over Weekend
Four persons were injured in two separate traffic accidents in Escanaba over the weekend, it is reported by city police.

Edward P. Viau, 16, of 1901 9th Ave. N., was slightly hurt in a traffic mishap at 3rd Ave. S. and S. 16th St. at 8:17 a.m. today.

The other driver, Roland E. Berry of 1013 S. 18th St., received a traffic court summons for failing to yield the right of way.

Classes All In Session, College Plans Cleanup

Classes at Bay de Noc Community College were in session as usual, but that was about all that was normal at the college in the wake of Saturday's fire which caused extensive damage to the college's Science-Technical building.

The fire broke out in the storeroom between the chemistry and biology laboratories in the building and although flames were confined to the storeroom and laboratory area the rest of the building suffered heavy smoke and water damage.

"There is no estimate as yet when the building will be put back into use," said Dr. William Butt, academic dean.

Return To Scene

"Cleanup operations are being planned now, but they have to be done pretty carefully because there is still some danger involved from toxic fumes,"

Escanaba firemen, although using self-containing breathing devices, complained of chest pains, headaches and diarrhea from inhaling the fumes in fighting the fire.

Firemen responded to the new college campus building shortly before 11 a.m. Saturday, then returned again about 3:10 p.m. when chemicals reignited.

The Biological-Environment and Hazard - Force teams from K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base were summoned for decontamination procedures Saturday night and again Sunday.

Dr. Butt, who emphasized that the chemicals were safely stored, said the problems arose with the heat from the fire and water.

"There is probably some danger still existing from noxious gases," Dr. Butt said.

Crew Finishes

Mason Johnson, civil defense

director for Delta County, said the decontamination and chemical disposal effort was directed by George Copher, disaster control representative for K. I. Sawyer.

He said the crews finished work about 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

Chemicals removed from the storeroom and the two laboratories of the building were put in drums and transported to Escanaba's sanitary landfill site, where they were buried under 15 feet of earth, Johnson said they will decompose naturally.

Damage Uncertain

There was no immediate estimate of damage from the college. Palmer Derouin, fire chief, said it would exceed $100,000 and unofficial reports circulating said it could as high as $200,000.

Dr. Butt said the building, which had not formally been turned over to the college from

Olsen & Flath, Escanaba contractors, was fully insured. About 200 students were taking courses at the building, which is in its first year of use by the college.

All of the classes have been relocated and are in session, some at the college's welding building on 1st Ave. N., and others at the old college building in Escanaba.

Bicycle Safety To Be Stressed

All bicycle riders and especially youngsters are being encouraged to participate in all of the features that accompany the observance of Bicycle Safety Week in Escanaba, April 20-26.

Sunday, April 26, has been designated Bicycle Safety Day and parents are expected to urge their bike-riding children to take part in the special events for that day.

The Optimist Club of Escanaba and the Escanaba Area Jaycees are co-sponsors of the events again this year and the week will climax with a Bike Rodeo to be held at the tennis court location at Ludington Park. The program will start at 1 and end at 3:30 p.m.

The Bike Rodeo will consist of registration, a written test of bicycle safety rules, an inspection of bicycles to determine the condition of the bikes, a minor repair area, the applying of reflectorized safety tape — (provided by the local chapter of the VFW) — to the bicycles, a bike rodeo, and will conclude with a drawing for free prizes for boys and girls who register for the event.

Two new bicycles, including one donated by Becks Western Auto Store, will be given as prizes.

The Escanaba Jayettes, and wives of Optimist Club members, will assist in staging the program.

A member of the Escanaba Police Department will be in attendance to sell licenses for the bikes. A license costs 50 cents and is good for the life of the bicycle.

In connection with Safety Week, riders are asked to follow the rules, including:

Stop at all stop and go signs; Ride in a straight line; Have white light in front and red light and reflector in back for night riding.

Have proper horn or bell on bike; Give right-of-way to all persons walking; Stop and look out for cars at all crossings and cars leaving curb.

Keep your bike in tip-top shape; Report to police immediately if you lose your license or same is stolen.

Russia Betters Latin Relations

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government is getting results with its program to improve relations with Latin America.

Venezuela announced last week resumption of diplomatic relations with the Kremlin after an interruption of 18 years.

Venezuela is the fifth country in South America to decide on an exchange of ambassadors with Moscow in the past two years. Colombia, Peru, Bolivia and Ecuador are the others.

Before this Latin America was represented here diplomatically by only Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Uruguay and Mexico.

The Soviet leadership has been wooing Latin America by opposing Fidel Castro on the issue of exporting revolution and by offers of trade.

The Kremlin shows willingness to work with the governments, no matter how conservative, as an alternative to dependence on the United States.

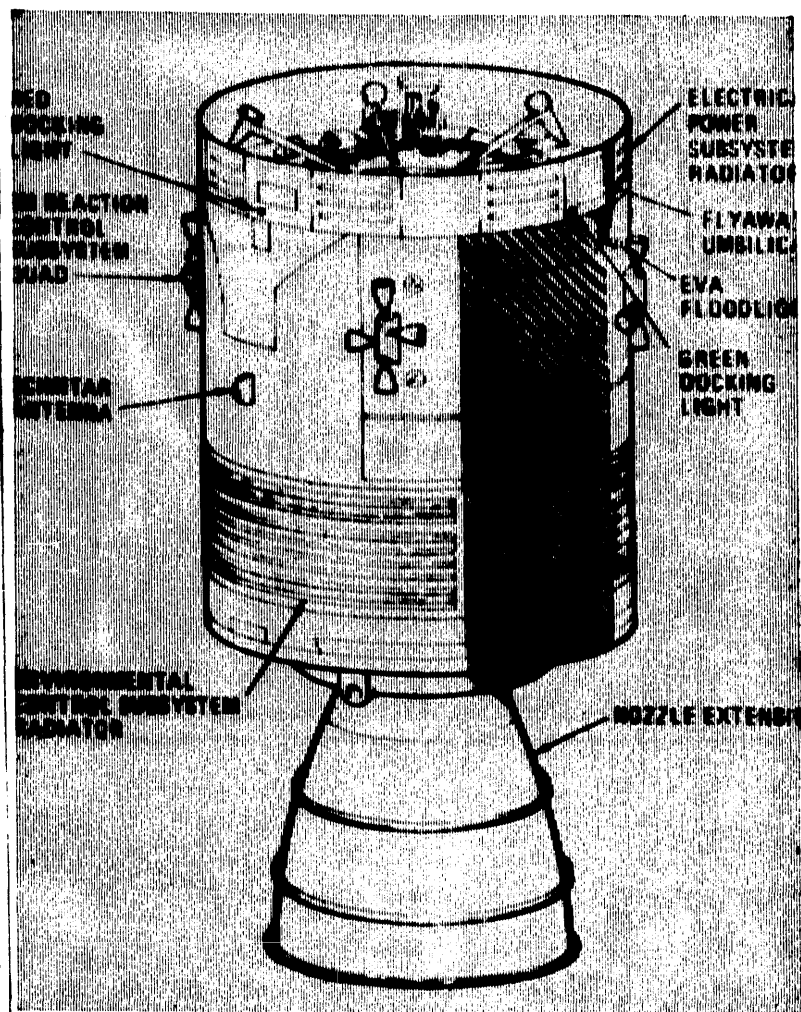

"The development of trade with the U.S.S.R. creates conditions under which some Latin American countries get a possibility to oppose economic pressure by imperialist states," says Pravda, newspaper of the Communist party.

"The U.S.S.R.'s trade ties with Latin-American countries also hinder the aggressive intentions of the United States in respect to Latin America."

Pravda says this country intends to continue increasing its trade with such countries regardless of their type of government.

Castro's Cuba has objected that this trade helps rightist governments and makes spreading revolution more difficult. The Kremlin has refused to be deterred.

Latin-American leaders show appreciation both for the Soviet willingness to do business and the playing down of the old policy of fomenting internal trouble.

Daring Surgical Plan Could Save One's Life

WASHINGTON (AP) — A daring surgical technique allowing doctors to monitor pressure within the skull might prove life-saving in selected cases of severe head injury or encephalitis, a medical conference was told today.

The idea involves drilling a "burr hole" in the skull and inserting a small pressure monitoring switch within the cavity that holds the brain.

Dr. R. M. Pearson Donaghy of Medical Center Hospital, Burlington, Vt., said the technique is designed to detect possibly dangerous pressure on the brain from blood or other fluids before a patient shows clinical signs of it.

Early detection of pressure can be crucial, he said, allowing doctors to begin pressure-relieving techniques before it is too late to save the patient.

Donaghy said in a report prepared for the 38th annual meeting of the American Association of Neurological Surgeons that the technique has been used on 40 patients at his hospital in the past five years.

He said patients with severe head injuries and some with brain infections often suffer from increased pressure within the skull, a condition that can damage brain tissue, causing permanent damage or death.

But, Donaghy said, frequently it is too late to help the patient when the crisis occurs.

"Our feeling is," the surgeon said, "that the monitoring switch was instrumental in saving the life of one child who survived encephalitis. For this reason we are prepared to suggest the use of burr holes for monitoring in selected cases."

Bridge Funds

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken says he will ask the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission to approve $600,000 for a new bridge linking Menominee and Marinette, Wis.

The governor said Friday that if the grant is approved at the commission's May 28 meeting, work on the $24 million bridge could start this fall.

The bridge would replace the old Menominee Bridge, which was torn down.

Beaten Man Dies Of Skull Fracture

MONROE (AP) — Reece Watson, 30, of Monroe died at the University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor Sunday only hours after his wife discovered him lying in the driveway of their home.

Police said Watson had been beaten and an autopsy indicated the cause of death was a skull fracture. Officers said the fracture was believed to have been caused by a tire iron.

Mrs. Watson told police her husband's wallet and personal papers were strewn about the driveway when she discovered him shortly before 1:00 a.m. Sunday.

World Shows Signs Of Growing Humane

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you are fair-complexioned and want to avoid premature skin-aging, stay out of the sun's glare—particularly between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.—even though you are young. This is the recommendation of a University of Pennsylvania medical investigator who found that sun exposure significantly damaged the skins of 80 per cent of youths between 10 and 20 years old.

Slowly the world shows signs of growing more humane. For example, in Costa Rica laws prohibit the working of horses, mules and oxen more than 48 hours a week.

This compares ironically to the praise given by humanitarian novelist Charles Dickens in the last century to textile mill operators in Lowell, Mass., for providing free instruction in music and other feminine accomplishments to their girl employees. But the girls worked from five in the morning till seven at night.

Do you wear contact lenses? Then it's a good idea to wear also a medical identification bracelet saying so. Should you lie unconscious for hours after an accident, the lenses can seriously injure the corneas.

Teen-age precocity: The 49th state flag—Alaska's—was designed by a 13-year-old orphan.

Benny Benson. Quotable notables: "About a third of my cases are suffering from no clinically definable neurosis, but from the senselessness and emptiness of their lives." —Dr. Carl Jung.

Why doesn't man have a tail? Aristotle, the Greek father of science, explained it was because nature thought man deserved a soft cushion to sit on. He also observed that man has larger feet in proportion to his size than any other animal. He explained the fact that man has more hair on his front and four-legged animals more on their backs because of nature's desire to protect the most exposed parts.

Know your language: Our phrase "forlorn hope" results from a slight mistranslation of the Dutch term "verloren hoop," which means "lost troop" not "lost hope." It referred to a group of soldiers given a desperate mission likely to result in all their deaths.

Folklore: Skunk grease will cure lameness. Further bad luck will follow unless the clocks in a home are stopped when a member of the family dies. To prevent a bad dream from coming true tell it to someone after—but not before—breakfast. A tingling left ear means someone is speaking ill of you, but if you pinch the ear that person will bite his tongue.

A.T. Pope Addresses Altrusa Club Members

At a recent meeting of the Escanaba Altrusa Club held at the Stone House, members were given a description of the vocational education program at Bay de Noc Community College.

Arthur T. Pope of Gladstone, was the guest speaker. He was introduced by Mrs. Harland Hanson of Powers who is chairman of the Vocational Services and Founders Fund committee of the local Altrusa Club.

On the occasion of Thomas Jefferson's birthday, Mr. Pope mentioned that vocational education in America goes back to the days of Jefferson, but in that period it sat within a formal academic plan. Usually it was referred to as manual training or homemaking arts.

Smith-Hughes Act It was in 1917 before an act was passed, the Smith-Hughes, that was specifically aimed at vocational training, strictly separate from academic education.

The George Barton Act of 1946 brought the act up-to-date and there have been amendments to the Act in 1963 and 1968.

Special Training Mr. Pope stated that justification for the special vocational training lies in the belief that every American is entitled to training leading him to some kind of economic role within the society. Lack of this sometimes leads to delinquency. There is a need for special counseling in this field because there is a difference between Industrial Arts and Vocational Education.

Federal Funds The federal law has often been geared to third or fourth year high school but now the main emphasis is on two years of college, but the training must not lead to baccalaureate degree. Federal funds are assigned to schools by the State Dept. of Education. Instructors must have three years experience to teach vocational subjects.

Because equipment is expensive, the public is given assistance from the federal and state government, 25 per cent each. The other 50 per cent comes equally from students tuition and public taxes. Twelve out of 29 junior colleges in the state are using the vocational program, said Mr. Pope.

52nd Birthday Mrs. Vera Clairmont, president at the business meeting and Shirley Miller, chairman of Altrusa Information, paid tribute to Altrusa's 52nd birthday, nationally. Each member paid two cents, per inch of her height into the Founder's Fund, geared toward women's vocational help.

Biggest Barge On Lakes Calls Escanaba Home Port

AT DOCK IN ESCANABA IS the Wiltranco, biggest barge on the Great Lakes, pictured here with the tug Olive L. Moore. They are owned by the Escanaba Towing Co., of which Clyde Van Enkevort (inset) is president. The Towing Co. salvaged the big barge on Lake Erie last fall when others failed. The barge will be put in the ore trade and will be towed by the tug captained by Richard Lyons. The T. D. Vinette Co. of Escanaba added a super-structure to the tug pilot house to increase visibility and is making repairs to the barge. (Daily Press Photos)

Report Issued By Task Force

Members of Governor William Milliken's task force on Natural Resources and Pollution control met for the last time on April 8 at the Capitol in Lansing and prepared their final report at his request.

Task Force members urge "immediate and positive action by the legislature to put this program into action, giving the people of Michigan tools to attack the total problem of preserving our environment."

"The State of Michigan is in a process of rapid change with the root and cause of our problem being human population pressure compounded by new product development and expanded production."

"This generation," according to the task force report, "must make its peace with the land or suffer the usual consequences for failure."

The committee's work has included exploratory meetings, day long seminars with state department heads concerned with natural resources and pollution control, three public hearings in Escanaba, Grand Rapids and St. Clair Shores.

Chairman of the Task Force, Representative John Payant of Iron Mountain and co-chairman Representative Ray Smith of Ann Arbor divided the task force into four subcommittees on Water and Land Resource Management; Air, Noise Pollution, Solid Waste Disposal and Littering; and Environmental Committee.

The Upper Peninsula representative on the task force was Barbara Nebel of Gladstone. She was a member of the Land Resource subcommittee.

By CLINT DUNATHAN

The largest vessel ever to have Escanaba as her home port is at dock here undergoing minor repairs before she loads iron ore at the Chicago & North Western ore terminal. The 580-foot barge Wiltranco owned by the Escanaba Towing Co., arrived here from Detroit about 9 p.m. Saturday and with her tug the Olive Moore is tied up at the Escanaba Coal Dock on the north shore.

Behind the story of the Wiltranco's arrival here is an exciting story of salvage of the vessel by Clyde VanEnkevort, Bark River, president of the Escanaba Towing Co.

But VanEnkevort is busy right now with preparing the big barge for the ore haul.

"There is a hole in her hull above the water line and that has to be patched, and there is some other work to be done including electrical equipment, and quarters for a crew on the barge," said VanEnkevort.

Broke Tow Line

The T. D. Vinette Co. is doing the work here and the Wiltranco should be ready in about a week. She will then be loaded with about 14,000 tons of ore at Escanaba and towed by the tug Olive L. Moore leaving for Indiana Harbor at the south end of Lake Michigan.

Capt. Richard (Dick) Lyons is the skipper of the powerful Oliver L. Moore. The tug is 130 feet long and is powered by 2,000 horsepower engines.

Because one of the barge's rudders is off, the Moore had the assistance of the tug Alpena in helping steer the barge up Lake Huron, through the Straits and to Escanaba. The Alpena is still here today and will return to Detroit when the weather is more favorable.

The Wiltranco, largest barge on the Great Lakes, is a converted freighter that went aground in Lake Erie near Buffalo on Oct. 21, 1967, when her towline broke in a storm.

Aground 3 Years

Through the three years before VanEnkevort bought the stranded barge from the Great Lakes Maritime Slave Corp. of Buffalo, three separate attempts to free the barge failed.

The barge rested on a flat rock ledge about 10 miles southeast of Port Colborne, drifting into about 10 feet of water. As the years went by and she resisted efforts to remove her, the elaborate equipment was removed.

Shore residents in the area didn't like her looks and even wrote to President Nixon asking him to do something about getting her off, but even this was of no avail—until the Escanaba Towing Co., Capt Lyons and the tug Oliver L. Moore came along.

Waiting until conditions of wind and water were ideal, the powerful tug moved to within 400 feet of the barge. On Oct. 16, nearly three years to the day when the Wiltranco went aground, she was freed by the Moore and towed to Buffalo, from there to Detroit for the winter, and then to Escanaba.

Fire Destroys Hunting Camp

A hunting camp located in section 26, Masonville Township, near the Whitefish River, was destroyed by fire sometime Saturday evening, according to State Police.

Officers said the cabin and furnishings, owned by James Wotherski, of Cheboygan, Mich., were completely destroyed by fire, causing an estimated loss of about $5,000.

Police said cause of the fire was undetermined at this time and there was no damage to surrounding area.

Environmental Aide Named

Robert J. Raisanen

Robert R. Raisanen has been promoted to the position of Manager, Environmental Quality, for the Upper Peninsula Power Co., announced R. F. Hoyer, chairman of the board and president.

"The power company and its affiliate, Upper Peninsula Generating Co., have always tried to be good citizens of the Upper Peninsula and good neighbors to residents of our service area. As such we have for many years worked to avoid polluting our air or water and to make our facilities and structures aesthetically acceptable," said Hoyer.

"With an increasing number of public and private bodies becoming interested in the environment, it has become necessary to have a person to represent the companies in those areas."

Raisanen, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Raisanen of Mohawk, is a native of the Copper Country, a graduate of the Mohawk and Calumet schools and holds bachelor of science degrees in Forestry and Engineering Administration from Michigan Technological University. He is a registered forester of Michigan, a member of The Society of American Foresters and the American Right-of-Way Association. During the Korean War he served in the far east command with the Army Corps of Engineers.

Raisanen joined the U.P. Power Co. as assistant forester in the land and forestry department in June, 1955. He advanced to forester and since October, 1965, has been assistant manager of the company's land and forestry department.

As Manager, Environmental Quality, Raisanen will represent the Upper Peninsula Power Co. in all matters concerning environmental control. He will be concerned with the location and appearance of UPPCO's facilities, including sub stations, transmission lines, buildings, rights-of-way and all matters having to do with the pollution of air or water.

Frank Kokovnik Taken By Death

Frank Kokovnik, 83, of Trenary and Rapid River, died at 6:30 a.m. Sunday at St. Francis Hospital where he had been a patient for four days.

He was born Nov. 19, 1887 in Yugoslavia and had resided in this area for 60 years. Mr. Kokovnik was a retired woodsman and farmer. He had made his home with Antone Gornick of Rte. 1 Rapid River for the past five years. Survivors include several nieces and nephews in Europe.

Friends may call at the Skradski Funeral Home after 4 p.m. today and the Rosary will be recited at 8:30 p.m. today. Funeral services will be conducted at 9 a.m. Tuesday at St. Rita's Church in Trenary with the Rev. Robert Haas officiating. Burial will be in Trenary Cemetery.

Consider Environment, Task Force Is Told

By JEAN WORTH
Of Panax Newspapers

GAYLORD — Alfred France, federal co-chairman of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, told members of its Michigan Task Force this weekend that "we have got to start considering the environmental factor."

"It is going to be here. It is going to bug us. It may slow down our economic development," he said.

The environmentalists may be going too fast, France said, but they have the ear of the President and Congress and they create an anti-pollution force that must be reckoned with.

France and his aide, Howard L. Potter of Duluth, senior coordinator for natural resources for the commission, and John Kavanagh and Roger Rehberg of the Michigan Department of Commerce, which provides staffing for Governor Milliken's participation in the commission with Governors Levander of Minnesota and Knowles of Wisconsin, described the commission's program to the Task Force. It is headed by Harold Vanlerberghe of Escanaba and its membership was recently enlarged by the addition of John Moffat of Manistique, Rev. Fr. Louis Cappel of Escanaba and Roger Williams of Menominee.

A five-year projection for commission activities in the Northern Lakes States is nearing completion. It will ask more than the $3 million a year that the commission has been spending in the three state region to stimulate its economy.

Congress Must Act

What Congress will do with its fund requests isn't known, but the five regional commissions are now coordinating programs and requests and France is optimistic about funding.

The UGLRC program for the next five years is built on the job gap. It sizes up the present employment situation in the region, states where it should be to provide an acceptable level of employment and asks the basic industries of the region what their employment prospects are? For the prospective unemployed it seeks to provide jobs in agriculture, industry, mining, tourism and other employments.

The commission aims to do this by stimulating the communities' economic development.

Where the commission formerly could give only supplemental aid it can now make "first money" grants to initiate projects and can furnish up to 80 per cent of their cost.

Among its projects is the non-profit corporation known as Upper Great Lakes Timber, Inc., which met here in the weekend to review its progress in its second year. It is getting $107,500 a year from UGLRC as a U.S. Department of Commerce grant to study wood industry harvesting, marketing and manufacturing problems in the Lake States. Frank Hoholik, president of Manistique Pulp & Paper Co., is president of Timber, Inc.

Troopers Nab Prison Escapee

An escaped prisoner from Marquette was captured in Rapid River by State Police early Sunday, shortly after his escape.

State Police said Rudolph R. Castelli, 19, a trusty assigned to the Magnum farm in Marquette, walked away from the farm about 10 p.m. Saturday, then stole a vehicle in an effort to escape.

Officers said Castelli, who was serving a term of 12½ to 25 years for armed robbery, failed to stop at a roadblock set up by State Police at U.S. 2 and 41 in Rapid River, at about 12:15 a.m.

State Troopers Robert Madden and Howard Haulotte pursued Castelli and succeeded in apprehending him about one mile south of Rapid River.

Report Issued By Task Force

Members of Governor William Milliken's task force on Natural Resources and Pollution control met for the last time on April 8 at the Capitol in Lansing and prepared their final report at his request.

Task Force members urge "immediate and positive action by the legislature to put this program into action, giving the people of Michigan tools to attack the total problem of preserving our environment."

"The State of Michigan is in a process of rapid change with the root and cause of our problem being human population pressure compounded by new product development and expanded production."

"This generation," according to the task force report, "must make its peace with the land or suffer the usual consequences for failure."

The committee's work has included exploratory meetings, day long seminars with state department heads concerned with natural resources and pollution control, three public hearings in Escanaba, Grand Rapids and St. Clair Shores.

Chairman of the Task Force, Representative John Payant of Iron Mountain and co-chairman Representative Ray Smith of Ann Arbor divided the task force into four subcommittees on Water and Land Resource Management; Air, Noise Pollution, Solid Waste Disposal and Littering; and Environmental Committee.

The Upper Peninsula representative on the task force was Barbara Nebel of Gladstone. She was a member of the Land Resource subcommittee.

The largest vessel ever to have Escanaba as her home port is at dock here undergoing minor repairs before she loads iron ore at the Chicago & North Western ore terminal.

The 580-foot barge Wiltranco owned by the Escanaba Towing Co., arrived here from Detroit about 9 p.m. Saturday and with her tug the Olive Moore is tied up at the Escanaba Coal Dock on the north shore.

Behind the story of the Wiltranco's arrival here is an exciting story of salvage of the vessel by Clyde VanEnkevort, Bark River, president of the Escanaba Towing Co.

But VanEnkevort is busy right now with preparing the big barge for the ore haul.

"There is a hole in her hull above the water line and that has to be patched, and there is some other work to be done including electrical equipment, and quarters for a crew on the barge," said VanEnkevort.

Broke Tow Line
The T. D. Vinette Co. is doing the work here and the Wiltranco should be ready in about a week. She will then be loaded with about 14,000 tons of ore at Escanaba and towed by the tug Olive L. Moore leaving for Indiana Harbor at the south end of Lake Michigan.

Capt. Richard (Dick) Lyons is the skipper of the powerful Oliver L. Moore. The tug is 130 feet long and is powered by 2,000 horsepower engines.

Because one of the barge's rudders is off, the Moore had the assistance of the tug Alpena in helping steer the barge up Lake Huron, through the Straits and to Escanaba. The Alpena is still here today and will return to Detroit when the weather is more favorable.

The Wiltranco, largest barge on the Great Lakes, is a converted freighter that went aground in Lake Erie near Buffalo on Oct. 21, 1967, when her towline broke in a storm.

Around 3 Years
Through the three years before VanEnkevort bought the stranded barge from the Great Lakes Maritime Salvage Corp. of Buffalo, three separate attempts to free the barge failed.

The barge rested on a flat rock ledge about 10 miles southeast of Port Colborne, drifting into about 10 feet of water. As the years went by and she resisted efforts to remove her, the elaborate equipment was removed.

Shore residents in the area didn't like her looks and even wrote to President Nixon asking him to do something about getting her off, but even this was of no avail—until the Escanaba Towing Co., Capt. Lyons and the tug Oliver L. Moore came along.

Waiting until conditions of wind and water were ideal, the powerful tug moved to within 400 feet of the barge. On Oct. 16, nearly three years to the day when the Wiltranco went aground, she was freed by the Moore and towed to Buffalo, from there to Detroit for the winter, and then to Escanaba.

Fire Destroys Hunting Camp

A hunting camp located in section 26, Masonville Township, near the Whitfish River, was destroyed by fire sometime Saturday evening, according to State Police.

Officers said the cabin and furnishings, owned by James Wotherski, of Cheboygan, Mich., were completely destroyed by fire, causing an estimated loss of about $5,000. Police said cause of the fire was undetermined at this time and there was no damage to surrounding area.

Environmental Aide Named

Robert J. Raisanen

Robert R. Raisanen has been promoted to the position of Manager, Environmental Quality, for the Upper Peninsula Power Co., announced R. F. Hoyer, chairman of the board and president.

"The power company and its affiliate, Upper Peninsula Generating Co., have always tried to be good citizens of the Upper Peninsula and good neighbors to residents of our service area. As such we have for many years worked to avoid polluting our air or water and to make our facilities and structures aesthetically acceptable," said Hoyer.

"With an increasing number of public and private bodies becoming interested in the environment, it has become necessary to have a person to represent the companies in those areas."

Raisanen, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Raisanen of Mohawk, is a native of the Copper Country, a graduate of the Mohawk and Calumet schools and holds bachelor of science degrees in Forestry and Engineering Administration from Michigan Technological University. He is a registered forester of Michigan, a member of The Society of American Foresters and the American Right-of-Way Association. During the Korean War he served in the far east command with the Army Corps of Engineers.

Raisanen joined the U.P. Power Co. as assistant forester in the land and forestry department in June, 1955. He advanced to forester and since October, 1965, has been assistant manager of the company's land and forestry department.

As Manager, Environmental Quality, Raisanen will represent the Upper Peninsula Power Co. in all matters concerning environmental control. He will be concerned with the location and appearance of UPPCO's facilities, including sub stations, transmission lines, buildings, rights-of-way and all matters having to do with the pollution of air or water.

Consider Environment, Task Force Is Told

By JEAN WORTH
Of Panax Newspapers

GAYLORD — Alfred France, federal co-chairman of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, told members of its Michigan Task Force this week-end that "we have got to start considering the environmental factor."

"It is going to be here. It is going to bug us. It may slow down our economic development," he said.

The environmentalists may be going too fast, France said, but they have the ear of the President and Congress and they create an anti-pollution force that must be reckoned with.

France and his aide, Howard L. Potter of Duluth, senior coordinator for natural resources for the commission, and John Kavanagh and Roger Rehberg of the Michigan Department of Commerce, which provides staffing for Governor Milliken's participation in the commission with Governors Levarder of Minnesota and Knowles of Wisconsin, described the commission's program to the Task Force. It is headed by Harold Vanierbergh of Escanaba and its membership was recently enlarged by the addition of John Moffat of Manistique, Rev. Fr. Louis Cappel of Escanaba and Roger Williams of Manistique.

A five-year projection for commission activities in the Northern Lakes States is nearing completion. It will ask more than the $3 million a year that the commission has been spending in the three state region to stimulate its economy.

Congress Must Act

What Congress will do with its fund requests isn't known, but the five regional commissions are now coordinating programs and requests and France is optimistic about funding.

The UGLRC program for the next five years is built on the job gap. It sizes up the present employment situation in the region, states where it should be to provide an acceptable level of employment and asks the basic industries of the region what their employment prospects are? For the prospective unemployed it seeks to provide jobs in agriculture, industry, mining, tourism and other employments.

The commission aims to do this by stimulating the communities' economic development.

Where the commission formerly could give only supplemental aid it can now make "first money" grants to initiate projects and can furnish up to 80 per cent of their cost.

Among its projects is the non-profit corporation known as Upper Great Lakes Timber, Inc., which met here in the weekend to review its progress in its second year. It is getting $107,500 a year from UGLRC as a U.S. Department of Commerce grant to study wood industry harvesting, marketing and manufacturing problems in the Lake States. Frank Hoholik, president of Manistique Pulp & Paper Co., is president of Timber, Inc.

Espositos Still Friends Despite Phil's Hat Trick

CHICAGO (AP) — Boston center Phil Esposito was one of the first to rush to the net Sunday when brother Tony Esposito, the Chicago Black Hawk goalie, slumped to the ice after being hit in the forehead by a puck.

"I was concerned about him when he got hit," said Phil. "I don't like to see anybody get hurt, especially my brother."

Tony wasn't seriously injured and brother Phil didn't seem overly concerned as he scored a three-goal hat trick to lead the Bruins to a 6-3 victory over the Black Hawks in the opener of their best-of-7 Stanley Cup playoff series.

In St. Louis, the Blues took a 1-0 lead in their playoff series with a 3-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Penguins.

The Hawk's Tony, Vezina trophy winner with a record 15 shutouts during the regular season, said he wasn't hurt by the puck off Ken Hodge's stick. "It stunned me for a moment but didn't affect my play. I was just lousy."

Hat Trick

Phil's hat trick was his third in Stanley Cup play and tied him with Norm Ullman and Bernie Geoffrion for second place, well behind Maurice "Rocket" Richard who had seven in his career.

The Bruins were forced to skate off two penalties early in the game before Esposito put them ahead 1-0 at 12:28 of the first period and then made it 2-0 on a power play at 16:01.

The Black Hawks, champions of the National Hockey League's Eastern Division, never recovered. Boston made it 3-0 in the second period on a goal by John Bucyk before Dennis Hull put Chicago on the board with a goal at 8:26.

Esposito completed his hat trick at 14:59 to make it 4-1 and put the outcome beyond reach.

The Hawks, who swept Detroit in four straight games while Boston needed six to eliminate New York, face the Bruins at home again Tuesday night. The series then shifts to Boston next Thursday and Sunday.

Free-For-All Action

Penguins' Coach Red Kelly contended the Blues "were trying to intimidate us right off the bat." His Penguins engaged the Blues in fistfuffs on four occasions.

"They didn't intimidate us one iota. They knew we were around, and that's the way it's going to be the rest of the series," he continued.

Kelly's Penguins were victims of all Blues' scoring within six minutes of the second period, with goals by Gary Sabourin, Phil Goyette and Red Berenson. The calm between an opening-period flurry of three fights producing 61 minutes of penalties and a closing near-free-for-all prevailed as Sabourin rammed home his shot.

Dean Prentice of the Penguins was off the ice for interference at the time, and 58 seconds later Goyette scored on a pass from AB McDonald to make it 2-0.

Only after Berenson took a pass from McDonald in the slot and beat goaltender Les Binkley nearly five minutes later were the Penguins able to regroup.

When Ken Schinkel scored into an open net from which the Blues' Glenn Hall had been feinted early in the final period, the momentum had been reversed too late.

Kidettes Snare League Trophy

Sunday night marked the end of the second half league play of the Sunday Night Mixed Doubles of the Bowlarama. The Transporters with Laurel and Chris Jensen and Ken and Jane West played the final night against the Bluffers...

Alex and Sharon Sovey, and Jim and Barb Sovey, Alex Sovey, with only a 129 average came up with a 544 series to help his team tie up the second half top place.

The two teams played a one game roll-off and after a close match into the tenth frame, Jane West rolled five strikes in a row to win for the Transporters.

A roll-off followed against the Kidettes, first half champs... The Transporters led the way by an 83 pin lead after the first game, but the Kidettes came back to take the second game narrowing the lead to 50 pins. The third game proved fatal for the Transporters with the Kidettes taking over by a squeaky three pin win. The Kidettes team includes Nick and Mary Niquette and Bob and Nancy Robinette.

The League banquet was held at Potvins in Schaffer with awards going to Liz Parlato for high series, high game trophy and a special award from WIBC for a 277 game. Her husband Louis Parlato also won high game trophy and a special award from ABC for having bowled 100 pins over his average. Lenore Palmgren won an award for triplicate score which was three games of 148. Another husband and wife team, Alex and Sharon each won the award for most improved averages. The highlight of the night was the awarding of the league trophies and ABC and WIBC recognition award to the Kidettes.

Dan Barron was elected President for the 1970-71 season. Gil Bittner was elected Vice President and Helen Sovey Secretary - Treasurer. Jack LaPine presided over the meeting and gave out the awards.

Lake Superior To Join NCAA

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Lake Superior State College has been elected to an active membership in the National Collegiate Athletic Association and will be able to compete in NCAA events beginning with the 1970-71 academic year.

Dr. Kenneth J. Shoultice, LSSC president, says hockey would be the first sport the school will schedule in the NCAA. But he says Lake Superior State will remain affiliated with the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Last year the Crusaders took first place in the Champion of Champions Meet in Newberry, second in the Great Northern Conference and second in the U.P. finals.

The Crusaders, under direction of Head Coach Doug Bovin and his assistant, John Kelly, are working out daily in preparation for opening the 1970 track season at Menominee in a triangular meet on Tuesday, April 21.

Heading the list of experienced veterans will be Don DeGrand, Bill Beauvais, Paul Guenette and Noel Gannon. Guenette and Gannon broke school records last season in the mile and two mile run.

In the 880 and 440 yard run, Holy Name will have letter winners in Bob McGinn, who broke the school record in the 880 last year and sophomore Bill Skradski.

Seeking points for the Crusaders in the dashes will be Tom Ness and Jim Dubord, who both set school records in the 880 yard relay, while Dennis Severinsen will be participating in the low hurdles.

Long jumpers, Dan Young and Dubord, both returnees, will give the green and white strength in this event. Gary Corbett and Young will compete in the shot put, while Joe Kroll is the only returning high jumper. Veteran Nick Knaut will again be in the pole vault category.

Another veteran, Steve Leonard, has not yet been assigned to a specific event.

Adding depth to this year's team will be Joe Harvey in the 880 relay, the high jump and the shot put, Neil Odgers in the 440, Paul Van Enkevort in the pole vault, Gary Kleiman in the high jump and Joe Moberg in the shot put.

The following members of the team, who are being counted on to add strength for the Crusaders are: Ed McCarthy, Bill St. Martin, Dave St. Vincent, Steve Sauve, Brian Tanguay, Dirk Van Enkevort, Doug Verhagen, Wally Viaw, Bill Severinsen, Mark Raspor, Ron Newhouse, Tom and Tim LeGault.

Other candidates include: Jim Coan, John Greis, Ron Jaeger, Mark Johnson, John DeGrand, Jim Joran, Tom Kidd, Ken Knaut, Bob Kobasic Jim Koehler and Mark Kroll.

The team captains for this season will be Young, Ness and McGinn.

The tentative schedule is as follows:

April 21 - Triangular at Menominee with Stephenson.

Ohio U. May Drop Nearly All Sports

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio University task force, in a report for release today called for elimination of the school's entire intercollegiate athletic program, except basketball, within three years, according to the Dayton Journal Herald.

The recommendations, the newspaper reported in today's editions, capped a six - month study of the university's athletic program. Approval by OU President Claude R. Sowle and the board of trustees would reduce intercollegiate athletics to a "club sport" basis similar to the current intramural program.

The report recommends retention of basketball because the school only last year completed a $13 million arena.

The task force, noting that Ohio University now spends more than $2 million of its $48 million operating budget on intercollegiate athletics, said, "the heavy subsidizing of student athletes is out of proportion to subsidies provided for academic excellence."

Only two Michigan basketball players have won the Most Valuable Player award for three straight years. Ron Kramer, famed tight end for the Green Bay Packers and Detroit Lions, won the award in 1955-56-57, and Cazzie Russell, currently with the New York Knickerbockers, was the triple winner in 1964-65-66.

Simpson, Griffith Spin Near-Perfect Victories

By The Associated Press

Who do you like your no-hitters broken up—early or late?

The National League had them both ways Sunday-Wayne Simpson losing his chance in the first inning and Tom Griffith letting the suspense build a bit before losing his in the seventh.

Simpson, Cincinnati's sensation rookie, one-hit St. Francisco 6-0 Sunday while Houston's Griffith handcuffed San Diego on one hit, 5-1.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles battered Atlanta 10-1 with the game enlivened by a short fist fight between Larry Jaster of the Braves and Willie Davis of the Dodgers, and Philadelphia split a doubleheader with New York, winning 3-2 in 10 innings before losing 10-2, Montreal at Chicago and St. Louis at Pittsburgh were both postponed by rain.

Simpson, who has created quite a stir with two shutouts and three straight victories, surrendered a two out first inning double to Ken Henderson and nothing else. He struck out nine but experienced some control problems, walking seven.

Ten days ago, in his major league debut, the 21-year-old right-hander shut out the Dodgers on two hits and in 25 innings pitched, he has allowed just one run.

Simpson got all the offensive support he needed from Tony Perez, who drove in four runs with two singles and his sixth homer of the young season.

Houston's Griffin gave up a first inning run to San Diego on a walk, a stolen base and two ground outs, and then held the Padres hitless until Clarence Gaston doubled with one out in the seventh. Ironically, Gaston was the victim of a diving catch by Jimmy Wynn in the fourth with the shot being turned into a double play and preserving Griffin's hitless string.

"After Jimmy made that play," said Griffin, "it ran through my mind the way it happens when guys pitch no-hitters. There's got to be one good defensive play. At least it always seems that way. I thought maybe this was mine," said Griffin.

"Closest I've ever come!" said Griffin, repeating a newspaper's question. "Oh, yea, sure, it may be the closest I ever come."

Simpson and Griffin increased to four the number of one-hit-fives pitched in the NL in the last five days. Mike Torrez of St. Louis did it last Wednesday against Montreal and Nolan Ryan of the Mets turned one in Saturday against Philadelphia.

Wes Parker clouted a two-run homer and Ted Sizemore cracked three straight hits pacing a 14-hit Los Angeles attack that carried the Dodgers past Atlanta. Alan Foster rode the heavy hitting to his second victory in three decisions.

The battle between Jaster and Davis broke out in the eighth inning.

Davis was backed away from the plate with a close two-strike pitch and then bunted down the first base line. As the ball rolled foul for the third strike out, Davis exchanged words with Jaster and then punches.

After taking one punch, Davis sprinted away from Jaster and into the Dodger dugout as both benches emptied. "I accused him of throwing at me deliberately," said Davis. "He hit me on the right cheek and since I had it broke before, I didn't want it hit again, so I ran." Jaster denied throwing at Davis. "When he ran," said the pitcher, "I just gave up."

The Phillies ended a seven-game losing streak, pushing over two 10th inning runs to beat New York and Jerry Koosman in the first game of their doubleheader. Hits by Larry Hise and John Briggs drove in the runs and Rick Wise went the distance for the victory.

Donn Clendenon drove in four runs—three on a homer—as the Mets blitzed Philadelphia in the nightcap. Winning pitcher Jim McAndrew kicked off a six-run rally with a double.

Knicks Stop Bucks; Lakers Win In Four

By The Associated Press

Second might be best in the West, but the New York Knicks are having none of it in the East.

The Knicks, who breezed in four games ahead of the Milwaukee Bucks for the Eastern Division title in the National Basketball Association, stood poised today to prove in the playoffs that's where they belong.

The Knicks need only a victory tonight in New York to close out their best-of-7 division final playoff series after beating the Bucks 117-105 Sunday afternoon in a nationally televised game at Milwaukee for a 3-1 game lead.

That victory would shove the Knicks in the championship final against the oncoming Los Angeles Lakers.

Lakers Sweep Series

The Lakers beat the Knicks to the final by upsetting the regular season finish in the Western Division with a startling four-game sweep over the Atlanta Hawks, who had finished two games ahead of Los Angeles, completed the turnaround Sunday night in Los Angeles by exploding in the fourth quarter for a 133-114 triumph over the Hawks.

In the American Basketball Association division semifinal playoffs, Indiana took a 2-0 lead over Carolina with a 103-98 victory at Indianapolis, and New York Nets moved ahead of Kentucky 2-1 with a 107-99 triumph in New York and Washington pulled within 2-1 with a 125-120 victory over Denver.

The Knicks moved to a 20-point halftime lead, but had to survive a scare in the third period when the bucks pulled within two points with 16 straight points. But they never got even.

Low Scores 38

Low Alcindor once again led the Bucks with 38 points, but managed only nine rebounds. Willis Reed had 26 for the Knicks, but Cazzie Russell was the big man, coming off the bench and scoring most of his 18 points to pull the Knicks out of danger.

The Lakers entered the final period trailing 89-88, and were still behind 95-94 when they started a crushing 17-2 spurt that gave Los Angeles a record seven straight playoff victories.

Jerry West led the Lakers with 39 points and Elgin Baylor had 31, while Wilt Chamberlain had 11 and 21 rebounds, ruining an inspired effort by Atlanta Player-coach Richie Guerin.

The 37-year-old Guerin, who totaled only seven points during the regular season, started in place of injured Walt Hazzard and scored 31 points.

ABA Playoffs

First place Indiana entered the final period with a 12-point lead, but had to survive a comeback led by Bob Verga that pulled Carolina within 97-96 with 1:40 left. However, the Pacers scored the next six points in the Western Division best-of-7 playoff game.

Freddie Lewis had 26 points for the Pacers and Verga 35 for the Cougars.

In the Eastern Division, the fourth place Nets jumped in front 60-42 at the half and only in the last 50 seconds did the Colonels pull within 104-99.

Levern Tart and Sonny Dove each had 25 points for the Nets while Louie Dampier had 19 for Kentucky.

Rick Barry scored 45 points for Washington, same as Denver's Spencer Haywood, who brought the Rockets within 82-80 late in the third period after trailing by 16. But Washington pulled ahead 123-114 and that was it for Denver, the first place team in the West.

The other West semifinal continues tonight at Los Angeles with Dallas and the Stars tied 1-1.

Royals Surprise Californians 4-1

By The Associated Press

The California Angels figured they'd found a good samaritan in the Kansas City outfield... only to discover that charity ends at home for George Spriggs.

California and Kansas City were locked in a 1-1 standoff Sunday when Spriggs, the Royals' right fielder, lost Chicago Ruiz' 11th inning fly ball in the sun. It fell for a double, and when Joe Azcue followed with a single to right Ruiz confidently sprinted homeward with the apparent winning run.

But Spriggs nailed him at the plate with a perfect throw, killing the threat, and then contributed a key bunt single as Kansas City scored three runs in the 13th for a 4-1 victory over the Angels.

In other American League action, the New York Yankees divided a doubleheader with Baltimore, winning the nightcap 8-5 after a 4-3 setback, and Minnesota downed Oakland 6-3. Bad weather in the Midwest forced postponement of the Chicago-Milwaukee and Washington-Cleveland twin bills and the Boston-Detroit game.

The Royals broke the extra inning deadlock at California on a passed ball by catcher Azcue in the 13th after a walk, a hit batsman and Spriggs' safe bunt filled the bases with none out. Amos Otis' double and Bob Oliver's single delivered two insurance runs.

Angels shortstop Jim Fregosi, whose run-scoring single in the eighth gave the Angels a 1-0 edge, committed a throwing error in the ninth, allowing Spriggs to score the tying run from second base.

Horace Clarke ripped five of New York's 17 hits in the nightcap at Baltimore and the Yankees withstood ninth inning homers by Andy Etchebarren and Chico Salmon. Pete Ward's two-run triple was the Yanks' only extra base hit.

Johnson Shares Lead In New Orleans Open

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—"How sweet it is." This was veteran Howie Johnson's sentiment Sunday after landing in a three-way tie in the $125,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

Johnson — who is assured of at least $11,375—has not notched an official tour victory since 1959 when he won the Baton Rouge, La., Open.

Ready to battle him today for the $25,000 first prize were Milner Barber and left-hander Bob Charles, who birdied three of the last five holes to spurt into the three-way tie at 10-under 278.

The sudden death playoff normally would have begun immediately after the end of regulation play Sunday but stormy weather had delayed the final round — once for 52 minutes and again for 21 minutes — and darkness closed in.

Lou Graham, who had a shot at first place until the final crucial holes, finished one back at 279.

Third round leader George Archer entered Sunday's play 11 strokes under par but slipped to a 76 and finished fifth.

Grouped in sixth place at 282 were Master champion Billy Casper, Jim Colbert, Dave Stockton, Gary Player and Rod Cull.

Neither Johnson, Barber nor Charles have won on the tour this year, but they represent 36 years of combined experience. Barber has won $40,341 this year. Johnson $29,436 and Charles $18,988.

Charles' five-under-par 67 Sunday was the best of the day and his best of the tournament. Johnson made the playoff with a 71 and Barber with a 70.

Barber missed a 12-foot eagle putt on the 16th and an eight-

Espositos Still Friends Despite Phil's Hat Trick

CHICAGO (AP) — Boston center Phil Esposito was one of the first to rush to the net Sunday when brother Tony Esposito, the Chicago Black Hawk goalie, slumped to the ice after being hit in the forehead by a puck.

"I was concerned about him when he got hit," said Phil. "I don't like to see anybody get hurt, especially my brother."

Tony wasn't seriously injured and brother Phil didn't seem overly concerned as he scored a three-goal hat trick to lead the Bruins to a 6-3 victory over the Black Hawks in the opener of their best-of-7 Stanley Cup playoff series.

Kidettes Snare League Trophy

Sunday night marked the end of the second half league play of the Sunday Night Mixed Doubles of the Bowlarama. The Transporters with Laurel and Chris Jensen and Ken and Jane West played the final night against the Bluffers... Alex and Sharon Sovey, and Jim and Barb Sovey. Alex Sovey, with only a 129 average came up with a 544 series to help his team tie up the second half top place.

The two teams played a one game roll-off and after a close match into the tenth frame, Jane West rolled five strikes in a row to win for the Transporters.

A roll-off followed against the Kidettes, first half champs... the Transporters led the way by an 83 pin lead after the first game, but the Kidettes came back to take the second game narrowing the lead to 50 pins. The third game proved fatal for the Transporters with the Kidettes taking over by a squeaky three pin win. The Kidettes team includes Nick and Mary Niquette and Bob and Nancy Robinette.

The League banquet was held at Potvin's in Schaffer with awards going to Liz Parlato for high series, high game trophy and a special award from WIBC for a 277 game. Her husband Louis Parlato also won high game trophy and a special award from ABC for having bowled 100 pins over his average. Lenore Palmgren won an award for triplicate score which was three games of 148. Another husband and wife team, Alex and Sharon each won the award for most improved averages. The highlight of the night was the awarding of the league trophies and ABC and WIBC recognition award to the Kidettes.

Don Barron was elected President for the 1970-71 season, Gil Bittner was elected Vice President and Helen SoLa Pine presided over the meeting and gave out the awards.

Johnson Shares Lead In New Orleans Open

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—"How sweet it is." This was veteran Howie Johnson's sentiment Sunday after landing in a three-way tie in the $125,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

Johnson — who is assured of at least $11,575 — has not notched an official tour victory since 1959 when he won the Baton Rouge, La., Open.

Ready to battle him today for the $25,000 first prize were Miller Barber and left-hander Bob Charles, who birdied three of the last five holes to spurt into the three-way tie at 10-under 278.

The sudden death playoff normally would have begun immediately after the end of regulation play Sunday but stormy weather had delayed the final round — once for 52 minutes and again for 21 minutes — and darkness closed in.

Lou Graham, who had a shot at first place until the final crucial holes, finished one back at 279.

Third round leader George Archer entered Sunday's play 11 strokes under par but slipped to a 76 and finished fifth.

Grouped in sixth place at 282 were Master champion Billy Casper, Jim Colbert, Dave Stockton, Gary Player and Rod Curd.

Neither Johnson, Barber nor Charles have won on the tour this year, but they represent 36 years of combined experience. Barber has won $40,341 this year. Johnson $29,436 and Charles $18,088.

Charles' five-under-par 67 Sunday was the best of the day and his best of the tournament. Johnson made the playoff with a 71 and Barber with a 70.

Barber missed a 12-foot eagle putt on the 16th and an eight-foot birdie try on the 17th.

Johnson led by two strokes at one point Sunday and held a one-stroke advantage going to the 16th. But he hit a bad drive, wound up in a trap on his second shot and missed a 12-foot putt for par.

Charles, meanwhile, was near flawless with his shot placements and had birdies of 20, 40 and 15 feet on the back nine.

"I came in the back door," Charles said. "I'm lucky to be here."

Angels shortstop Jim Fregosi, whose run-scoring single in the eighth gave the Angels a 1-0 edge, committed a throwing error in the ninth, allowing Spriggs to score the tying run from second base.

Horace Clarke ripped five of New York's 17 hits in the nightcap at Baltimore and the Yanks withstood ninth inning homers by Andy Etchebarren and Chico Salmon. Pete Ward's two-run triple was the Yanks' only extra base hit.

Mike Cuellar flipped a four-

UAW Proposes $500 Monthly After 30 Years

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — About 1,000 delegates to the United Auto Workers Union national convention got off to an early start Sunday in the debate over what is expected to be the convention's hottest issue.

The delegates, who support a proposal that the union seek retirement from the Big Three automakers after 30 years of service without regard to age, paraded down the Boardwalk to Convention Hall, where the session opens today.

A substantial bloc of the 3,300 delegates want "30 and out" to be a prime bargaining goal of the union in this summer's contract talks with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

The proposal calls for a pension of $500 monthly at retirement after 30 years service. Currently, the Big Three offer early retirement at age 60 after 30 years service with a pension of $400.

Normal retirement at age 65 carries a pension of $5.50 to $6 a month for each year of service. Early retirees, however, are cut back to the regular rate when they become eligible for Social Security retirement benefits.

The union leadership has taken no official position on "30 and out" but many observers feel President Walter P. Reuther will support the proposal when it comes before the convention.

Creeger, James Tagg, John Mincoff, Eugene Johnson, Bill Putvin and William Males. Other council members include William Wedegartner Sr., Walter Rich, Clyde Strasler, Dr. Lyle Wilson and Dr. Milton Keteik.

Chevrolet Tells Of Cut In Prices Of Compact Nova

DETROIT (AP)—In an effort to stimulate economy car sales, Chevrolet has announced a price cut of some $160 on its compact Nova models.

Under the new price scale, the cheapest Nova—the four-cylinder coupe—will now be $2,176 instead of $2,335. It is General Motors' lowest priced domestic car.

A company spokesman said today the reduction was accomplished partly by reducing the dealer markup of profit margin from 21 to 17 per cent, thus lowering the sticker or suggested retail price.

In addition, the price cut also reflects a change in the number of extras included with the basic car. Several items which were standard equipment have been made cost options.

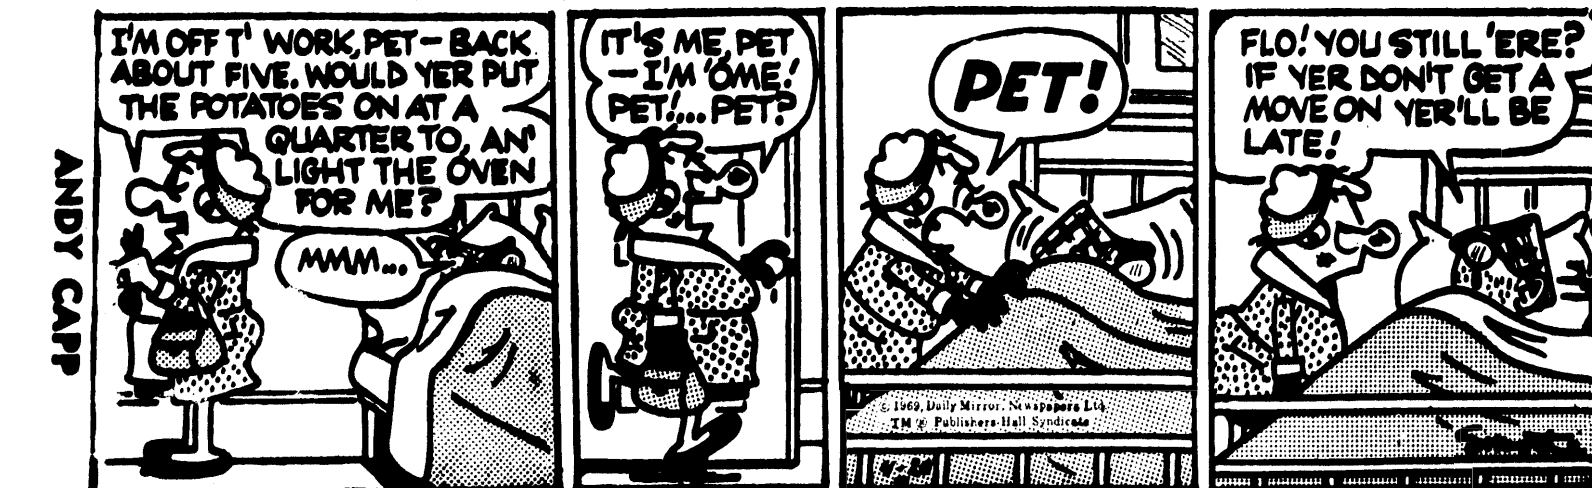

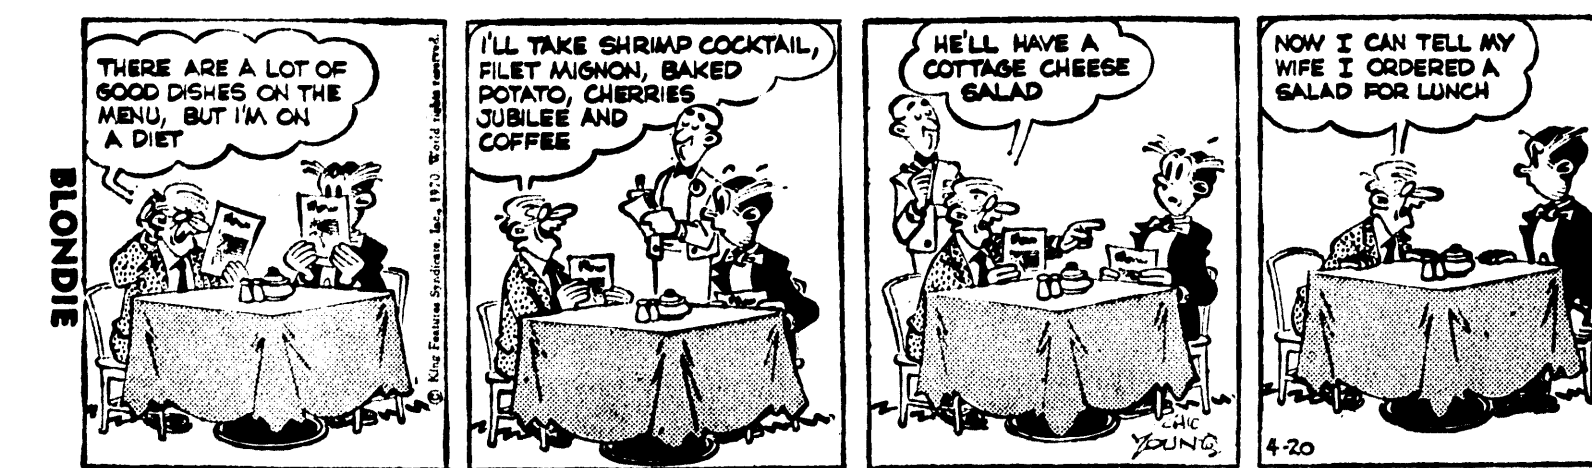

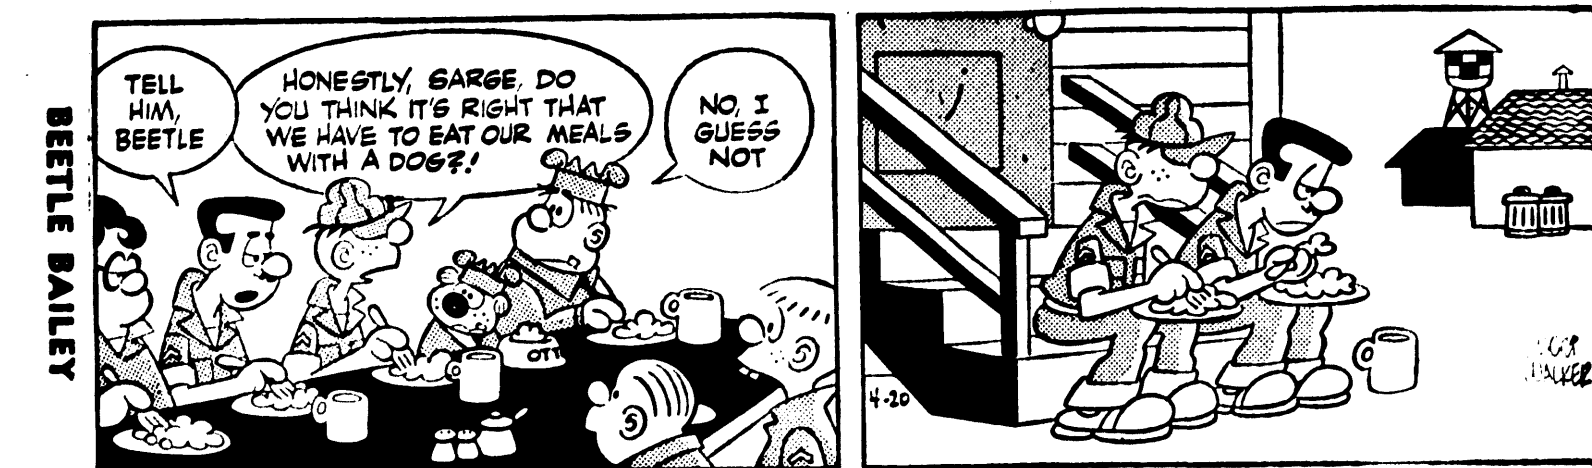

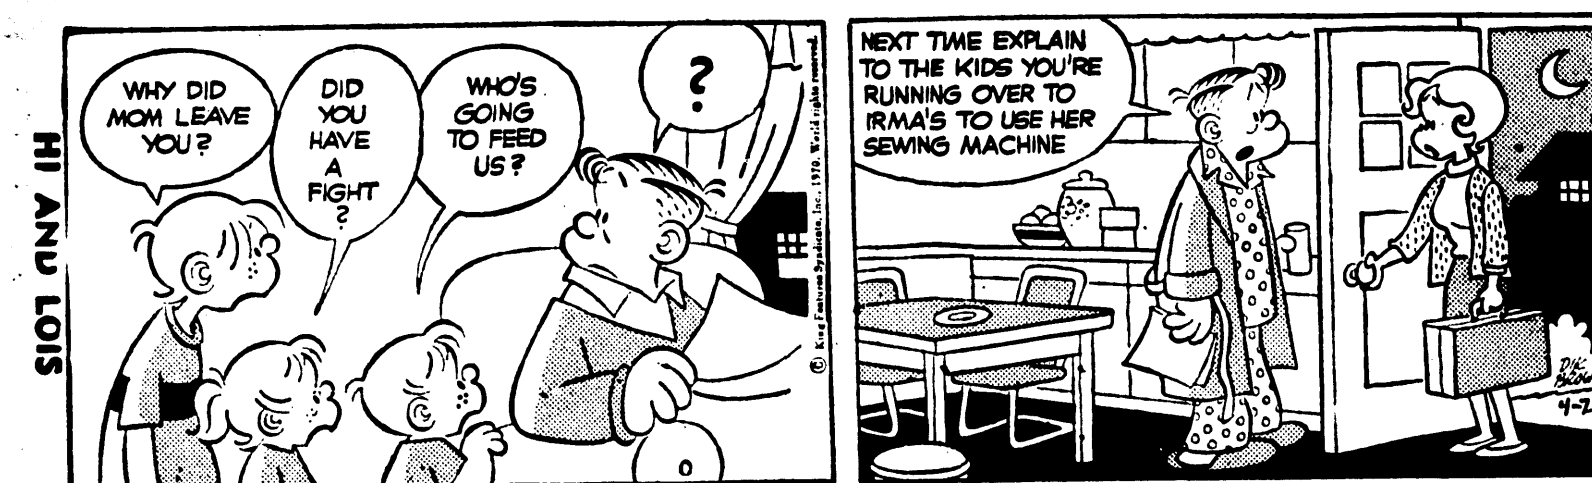

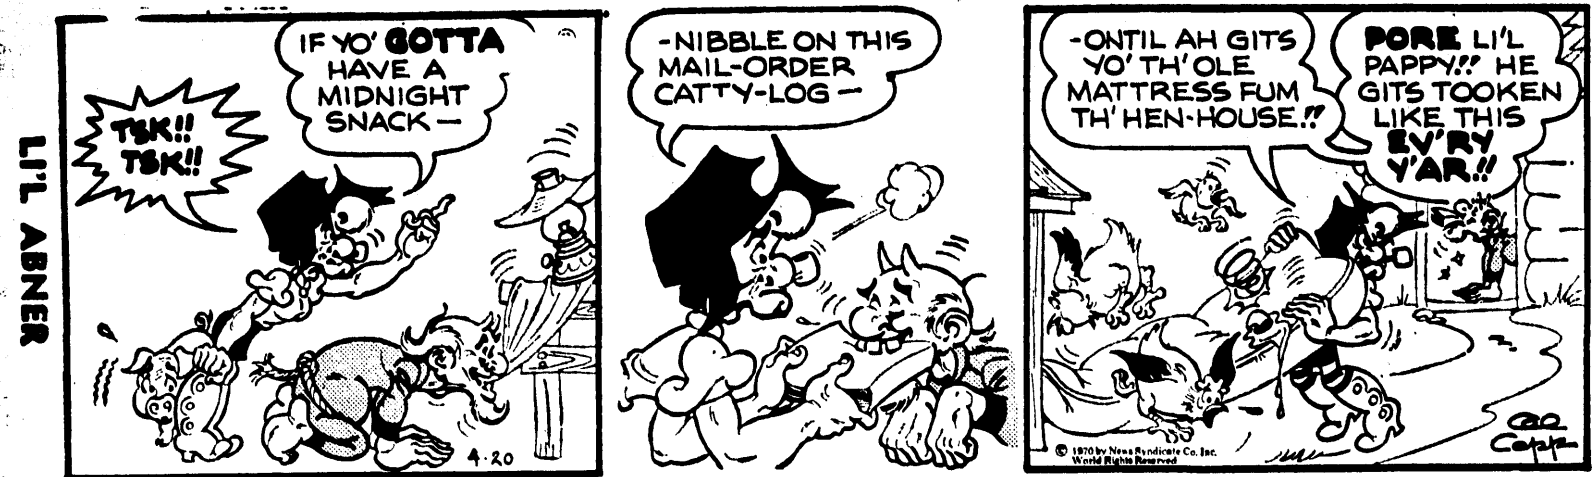

These include seat belt retractors, cigarette lighters, the new long-wearing bias-belted tires and day-night rear view mirrors.

Banks Now Turning To Merchandising

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Banking really isn't changing as much as it might appear. The purpose still is to make money on money — by accumulating deposits and then lending them out or investing them in real estate and securities.

The mechanical business of banking is, however, becoming less obvious to the eye. Seldom do you see grim faced men counting coins in public. It's all disguised now. Merchandising has come to this ancient craft.

To better sell their services, bankers often offer such a variety of prizes, premiums and other inducements that it sometimes seems the only thing not available at the local bank is a loan.

Innovations are evident everywhere. Remember when bankers had the best hours of any businessman? Now a bank in Huntington, W. Va., and another in Arlington, Va., are keeping their doors open 24 hours a day. The new hours are merely experimental and it's still too early to gauge the success of the moves. But an officer of the Huntington institution says the results to date have been more than satisfactory.

One reason for the experiments is that the customary 3 p.m. closing hardly suits the needs of, let us say, a customer who must cash a check Friday evening or delay his vacation until Monday.

Bankers once had the attitude that the less exposure to the public the better it was. That meant short hours and iron bars on the tellers' windows. The public was poor, and the banker often had the attitude that anyone who walked through his door was looking for a touch.

Customers now come through the door with money—and the banks want it. So badly, in fact, that they are happy to forego dusty old traditions.

As they shed the great depression syndrome, some remarkable changes occur. The bars come down, the tellers smile, soft music is piped in, brighter lights are installed, checks are offered in rainbow colors instead of black and white.

During the past few years some progressive bankers have experimented with a wide range of special services, such as on-the-job and in-plant banking, sales of airline tickets, tourist information and automobile insurance renewals.

Each year more banks develop income tax services, a logical move since they are in a good position to understand the financial complications that come with the growing affluence of their customers.

Some of the innovations cannot be translated directly into profits but are meant to generate good will. Among them: stocks of umbrellas to lend out on rainy days, sales of transit tokens, adding machines for public use.

In Alabama a bank published a job wanted list for high school pupils. In West Virginia a bank has a library of new cars to tie in with its auto loan department. In many banks there are "kiddie corners" equipped with toys.

Jukeboxes have appeared in banks which are interested in color television receivers in a club-like atmosphere and used to encourage deposits from well-to-do businessmen.

How long will it last? As long as it's profitable. Underneath the new facade banks haven't changed that much. Profit is still the name of the game and always will be.

And how long will the new techniques be profitable? For many years, it would seem, based on observations of current attitudes. Money no longer comes automatically to the bank. Savers have options these days.

True, individuals are accumulating greater reserves; but they also have a greater variety of ways in which to invest those reserves. The banks now must fight other investment mediums in order to get their share.

Twenty-five years ago, for example, banks didn't worry about mutual funds. Since then, however, mutual funds have developed into a $50-billion competitor for the saver's dollar.

'Switch And Bait' Meat Merchants Target Of Probe

By JACQUELINE KORONA
LANSING (AP) — Michigan lawmakers are zeroing in on the so-called "switch and bait" meat operators who prey on consumers and give legitimate merchants a bad name.

The unscrupulous meat operators use these tactics: they offer quantities of beef at low, low prices—maybe 49 or 59 cents a pound—but deliver less or demand more than the customer expects.

When a customer comes in to check an offer, for instance, he may be told that that particular meat isn't up to the quality he'd like, and he's talked into buying a higher-priced product.

Or the customer buys a quantity of the advertised meat, paying on gross weight basis. But when he receives the product, there's no simple way for him to figure out if he got all he paid for, since the meat generally has been fat-trimmed and cut into meal-sized chunks.

Sometimes, but not always, the customer is offered a freezer—with the quantity of meat tossed in for good measure. The measure often turns out to be bad.

The Michigan Senate this week faces a final vote on a bill aimed at forcing "switch and bait" operators out of business. If approved in the Senate, the bill then would face House consideration.

The measure, sponsored by Senate Agriculture Chairman Alvin DeGrow, R-Pigeon, would provide customers with itemized lists of their purchased cuts and weight.

That, says the State Agriculture Department, "makes it easier for him to determine actual cost and permit meaningful comparison."

Such a list would also give the customer "sufficient information so he can determine the waste or cutting loss to a carcass or primal cut" of meat, says the department, which supports the bill.

Ron Leach, acting chief of the department's Food Inspection Division, says the measure would "go a long way towards doing away with this type of operation."

Leach told a recent committee hearing on the bill that operators—like the one who delivered 212 pounds of meat instead of the expected 388 pounds—can be prosecuted under current law.

But, he said, the bill under consideration would give his department "a better tool to work with right now."

Jack Rose, a spokesman for the Michigan Chain Stores Council Inc., said his organization also supported the bill.

"There is a very substantial abuse to consumers in this area," Rose told the committee, adding that enactment of the bill "wouldn't require any more from the meat operators than others have been required to do already."

Rose explained that stores, for instance, must list the contents of special fruit baskets offered at Christmastime.

"The legitimate merchant has a real hard time staying legitimate and competing with the short-cut artists," he said.

Flags mark the 800-foot-long footpath. Wallenda plans to stop in the middle of the wire and stand on his head. ## 'Switch And Bait' Meat Merchants Target Of Probe

By JACQUELINE KORONA
LANSING (AP) — Michigan lawmakers are zeroing in on the so-called "switch and bait" meat operators who prey on consumers and give legitimate merchants a bad name.

The unscrupulous meat operators use these tactics: they offer quantities of beef at low, low prices—maybe 49 or 59 cents a pound—but deliver less or demand more than the customer expects.

When a customer comes in to check an offer, for instance, he may be told that that particular meat isn't up to the quality he'd like, and he's talked into buying a higher-priced product. Or the customer buys a quantity of the advertised meat, paying on gross weight basis. But when he receives the product, there's no simple way for him to figure out if he got all he paid for, since the meat generally has been fat-trimmed and cut into meal-sized chunks.

Sometimes, but not always, the customer is offered a freezer—with the quantity of meat tossed in for good measure. The measure often turns out to be bad.

The Michigan Senate this week faces a final vote on a bill aimed at forcing "switch and bait" operators out of business. If approved in the Senate, the bill then would face House consideration.

The measure, sponsored by Senate Agriculture Chairman Alvin DeGrow, R-Pigeon, would provide customers with itemized lists of their purchased cuts and weight.

That, says the State Agriculture Department, "makes it easier for him to determine actual cost and permit meaningful comparison."

Such a list would also give the customer "sufficient information so he can determine the waste or cutting loss to a carcass or primal cut" of meat, says the department, which supports the bill.

Ron Leach, acting chief of the department's Food Inspection Division, says the measure would "go a long way towards doing away with this type of operation."

Leach told a recent committee hearing on the bill that operators—like the one who delivered 212 pounds of meat instead of the expected 388 pounds—can be prosecuted under current law.
